LA FOLLETTE TO FIGHT BATTLE

Followers Not To Tie Up With Bryan In Nebraska and With Other Candidates In Other States.

SUPPORTERS TO HOLD LINCOLN CONVENTION

Preliminary Meeting To Be Held In Lincoln This Month to Arrange For Big State Convention Later On.

La Follette forces in Nebraska will make a straightout middle of the road fight for their presidential candidate and whoever is selected as his running mate without reference to the vice presidential candidacy of Governor C W Bryan on the democratic ticket it was announced Wednesday noon by George B Wylie of Fairbury upon his return from Chicago where he talked the situation over with Congressman Nelson of Wisconsin in charge of La Follette s national campaign

The proposal to leave the vice presidential place vacant so that Bryan s name could be put on with La Follette s in Nebraska Shipstead s in Minnesota Wheeler s in Montana and so on which Mr Wylie laid before Chairman Nelson was vetoed by the latter Mr Nelson took the view that the Wisconsin senator could not afford to be tied up with Bryan in any way as the latter would be trying to divert the progressive campaign toward the democratic party where as La Follette intends to run strictly as an independent expecting to draw votes from both the old parties

While labor in Nebraska has no quarrel with Governor Bryan and is in fact friendly to him we shall act according to the wishes of Senator La Follette and those who are managing the campaign for him ' Mr Wylie declared

This means that in Nebraska the same presidential ticket will be presented as elsewhere A nominee for vice president to run with La Follette will be selected at a meeting in Washington on Friday of this week I have no information as to who this is likely to be

State Conference July 25

The further announcement was made by Mr Wylie who is a spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods of Nebraska that a preliminary conference of La Follette supporters will take place in Lincoln at the Lindell hotel on July 25 at 2 p m at which time plans will be formulated for calling a state convention to be held at a later date to place the candidates for president and vice president formally in nomination and select presidential electors in their behalf

WHEELER SAYS MAY SUPPORT LA FOLLETTE

Democratic Prosecutor Of the Daugherty Investigating Committee Announces He Probably Will Aid Wisconsin Senator.

WASHINGTON July 16—Senator Burton K Wheeler of Montana democratic prosecutor of the Daugherty investigating committee said today he probably would support Robert M LaFollette in this year s presidential campaign

I do not see how I can support John W Davis said Senator Wheeler In view of my past position I could not ask the people of my state to vote for Mr Morgan s personal attorney

Asked whether he would accept a nomination for vice president on the La Follette ticket for which he has been widely mentioned Mr Wheeler replied that he would not

Not Quit Party

The Montana senator added that he was not quitting the democratic party but merely was unable to convince himself that he could consistently support the nominee chosen at the New York convention

He would not commit himself definitely regarding his support of the La Follette ticket but when he was asked directly whether he would do so replied that such a course was probable

Since he entered the senate Senator Wheeler has been associated closely with several legislative enterprises with the La Follette bloc, but some of his colleagues have been predicting that he would not follow the Wisconsin senator in his independent campaign for the presidency Until today he has kept his counsel or the subject pending a careful study of the whole situation

May Continue Efforts

Many of those who are taking part in the La Follette movement would like to see a ticket reading La Follette and Wheeler and it has been indicated that strong pressure was being brought to bear on the Daugherty committee prosecutor to join such a ticket There was also evidence that pressure in that direction would be continued despite Mr Wheeler s declaration today that he could not take the nomination

So far as revealed Senator La Follette himself has indicated no definite choice for a running mate

DAWES PLAN PARLEY UNDER WAY

PREPARE TO PUT PROPOSAL IN OPERATION

London Conference Hailed As Most Important Allied Gathering Since Signing of Versailles Treaty.

(Associtaed Press.)

LONDON, July 16.—The inter-allied conference for the purpose of making effective the Dawes plan for German reparations assembled at 11 o'clock today at the foreign office. American Ambassador Kellogg and Col. James A. Logan, jr., the American observer with the reparation commission were present with four advisers and a number of secretaries.

Formally welcoming the delegates to the conference, Prime Minister Macdonald made special reference to the presence of the Americans. He noted that they were not present as full delegates, but he took their presence as indicating the good will and co-operation of the United States in the effort to make the Dawes plan effective.

Ambassador Kellogg, replying to Mr. Macdonald's welcome, said the American government and people believed the adoption of the Dawes report would be the first great step toward the stabilization of Europe.

Opening the formal conference proceedings, Premier Macdonald briefly surveyed the reparations problem, urging the importance of details.

The conference was recognized by the press as the most important gathering of allied statesmen and diplomatists since the signing of the Versailles treaty.

Economic Unity Necessary.

It would be the business of the conference, said Mr. Macdonald, to create conditions for the working of the Dawes report, the first being the fiscal and economic unity of Germany, and the second, adequate security for prospective investors in the loan for Germany.

Responding to the British prime minister's welcome, Premier Herriot of France, thanked his colleague for his "noble words.' He recognized the apparent difficulties before the conference, but he thought everybody was "imbued alike with love of country and love of peace." Therefore he believed the interests of the various peoples concerned could be conciliated.

Mr. Herriot proposed Premier Macdonald as chairman of the conference after which the business of organization was began. Sir Maurice Hankey was named secretary-general and three committees were appointed to work out the agenda along the lines of the Herriot-Macdonald communique issued from Paris July 9.

The conference adjourned until tomorrow.

Owen D. Yong, member of the Dawes committee of experts, today declared that neither the position of agent-general of reparations nor any other post under the Dawes plan has been offered him. Therefore, he said, the question of his acceptance does not arise.

It is generally assumed in British and American circles that if the London conference, which opened today, is successful and the Dawes plan is put into effect, Mr. Young will be asked to take one of the most important posts, probably that of chairman of the transfer committee, otherwise known as agent-general of reparations.

U. S. Freedom Soon Of De Valera Certain

DUBLIN, July 16.—The freedom of Eamonn de Valera, Austin Stack and other Irish political prisoners was assured today when President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, signed a warrant for the release of all such political prisoners.

The date of the effect of the general amnesty has not been determined, but it was indicated the prison gates throughout Ireland probably would swing outward this weekend or early next week.

Republican supporters of De Valera, however, have already complicated the situation by demanding that their leader be freed in time to open the Tailtean games—an honor which they demand should go to him instead of to Cosgrave. That may delay the release date.

De Valera has been in prison since last August. Stack was imprisoned in April, 1923.

When the officers arrived Jackson was still in the house. Officer White rang the door bell in an effort to arouse the family. Hearing the bell the burglar started out the back way, but was seen by the Robinsons, who called to the officers. Starting around the house White met the burglar, who without hesitation took a shot at the officer, White returned the fire and started after him.

Running around the other side of the house Jackson encountered Officer Goodwin, who also fired. Jackson fired four shots at the officers, they say.

Turning, Jackson ran west on Dudley street, with the officers in pursuit. Two shots struck him in the right leg, above the knee and he crumpled in the street, at Thirty-fifth and Dudley.

Under Guard at Hospital.

He was taken to police headquarters, where he was attended by Dr. W. H. Slattery, and later removed in Splain and Schnell's ambulance to St. Elizabeth's hospital. He was under guard by Officer Charles Wilson Wednesday, but police did not fear his escape.

As soon as his condition will permit he will be removed to the hospital at the state penitentiary for safekeeping, until he can be formally arraigned.

An operation on the leg was performed Wednesday afternoon by Dr. R. H. Sawyer, who is attending the man. It is believed that it will be possible to save the limb.

Charge Is Filed.

A charge of burglary under the section which provides a sentence of 3 to 20 years for "feloniously entering a dwelling house" was filed against Jackson in Justice W. A. Hawes by County Attorney Charles E. Matson Wednesday morning, and the warrant read to Jackson at the hospital by Captain Anderson.

Jackson declares that this is the

FIRE MENACE IS LESSENED

Rains In Western Washington And Oregon Aid In Fight Against Forest Blazes, While Situation Still Critical In Other Areas.

FEDERAL AID OFFERED

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The aid of the federal government in fighting forest fires in California was offered Governor Richardson today by President Coolidge.

Mr. Coolidge sent the governor this telegram:

"Have noticed with deep concern the reports of growing destruction from forest fires in your state. I trust you will advise me if effective aid can properly be extended by the federal government."

Rains Are Received.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Eastern Washington, northern Idaho and California today were continuing their more or less unsuccessful battles against forest fires but rains in western Washington and Oregon had nearly ended the fire menace there.

Fires in northern Idaho and northeastern Washington last night had burned over several thousand acres of timber land and had destroyed the surface workings of four mines, a number of ranch houses and much property of lumber companies, including much timber. So far as known no lives have been lost, although a number of persons have been injured and some live stock killed. Four persons are missing in British Columbia.

In the Santa Barbara national forest in California last night, fire fighting crews succeeded in throttling the western advance of the flames to a comparatively narrow front.

A new fire in the Angeles national forest, also in California in the San Gabriel range between Mount Lowe and Mount Wilson, burned over thirty acres, but was controlled last night.

Rumored Leopold and Loeb Debated Kidnaping Parents

CHICAGO, July 16—Persons close to the defense declared here today that Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, who now are awaiting trial on charges of kidnaping and killing 13-year-old Robert Franks, had not only calmly considered using Tommy Loeb, 10-year-old brother of Richard as their victim, but also had even considered the possibility of attacking their own fathers.

The youths compromised and agreed to the kidnaping and killing of the Franks boy, it was declared.

After the subject of the parents had been discussed, the possibility of attacking Mr. Loeb was dropped. It was reasoned, according to the story, that Mr. Loeb was ill and confined to his bed at home. That they are said to have agreed, would have have made it very difficult to attack him.

The discussion regarding the possibility of an attack on the elder Leopold finally reached a point where it also was dropped because of the lack of an opportunity to collect ransom, a necessary part of the thrill program. Mrs. Leopold is dead and there are few other near relatives who might have been induced to part with a large sum as ransom.

The boys, according to this new development, finally decided they would have to use a child in their scheme, although the thrill would not be so great.

Persons who discussed the newest turn gave no reason for abandonment of the scheme to kidnap young Tommy Loeb.

Four Patrolmen Dropped From Lincoln Force

Four patrolmen were discharged from the night force Wednesday by Chief of Police Peter Johnstone. The measure became necessary because of the lack of department funds, the chief said.

The men discharged were Charles Rymer, W. L. Miles, M. F. Green and F. C. Jones.

New funds for the department will be available September 1 and it is expected that the night force will then be augmented.

DAVIS PREPARES TO ANNOUNCE HIS CAMPAIGN HEADS

Selection Of Manager And New Democratic Chairman Expected Momentarily.

Nominee Severs All Legal and Business Connections, Announcement Says.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 16.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee will select today his campaign manager and the new chairman of the democratic national committee.

This announcement was made shortly before noon by George White, former national chairman, who, with Clem Shaver of West Virginia, spent the morning with Mr. Davis at the home of Frank L. Polk here.

Mr. Davis announced that in order to give his entire undivided attention to the campaign he had determined to sever all his legal and business connections. His law partners were notified of his withdrawal from the firm of Stetson, Jennings, Russell and Davis.

Among other employments surrendered by Mr. Davis was that of general counsel for The Associated Press. He also resigned the only directorates held by him, namely, in the United States Rubber Co., the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co. and National bank of Commerce of New York.

Close friends of Mr. Davis maintained that he had offered the posts of campaign manager and general chairman to no one, although it was said his decision would be made shortly.

Although Mr. Davis had not committed himself publicly on the question of dividing the management of his contest for president, it was said today by persons him in democratic councils that the candidate is favorably inclined towards such a division of responsibility. At the end of his conference with party leaders yesterday Mr. Davis said that no decision had been reached in the matter.

The plan contemplates the sharing of the campaign directorship by the chairman of the national committee and the campaign manager.

LA FOLLETTE TO FIGHT BATTLE

Followers Not To Tie Up With Bryan In Nebraska and With Other Candidates In Other States.

SUPPORTERS TO HOLD LINCOLN CONVENTION

Preliminary Meeting To Be Held In Lincoln This Month to Arrange For Big State Convention Later On.

La Follette forces in Nebraska will make a straightout, middle-of-the-road fight for their presidential candidate and whoever is selected as his running mate, without reference to the vice presidential candidacy of Governor C. W. Bryan on the democratic ticket, it was announced Wednesday noon by George B. Wylie of Fairbury, upon his return from Chicago, where he talked the situation over with Congressman Nelson of Wisconsin, in charge of La Follette's national campaign.

The proposal to leave the vice presidential place vacant so that Bryan's name could be put on with La Follette's in Nebraska, Shipstead's in Minnesota, Wheeler's in Montana, and so on, which Mr. Wylie laid before Chairman Nelson, was vetoed by the latter. Mr. Nelson took the view that the Wisconsin senator could not afford to be tied up with Bryan in any way, as the latter would be trying to divert the progressive campaign toward the democratic party, whereas La Follette intends to run strictly as an independent expecting to draw votes from both the old parties.

"While labor in Nebraska has no quarrel with Governor Bryan and is, in fact, friendly to him, we shall act according to the wishes of Senator La Follette and those who are managing the campaign for him," Mr. Wylie declared.

"This means that in Nebraska the same presidential ticket will be presented as elsewhere. A nominee for vice president to run with La Follette will be selected at a meeting in Washington on Friday of this week. I have no information as to who this is likely to be."

State Conference July 25.

The further announcement was made by Mr. Wylie, who is a spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods of Nebraska, that a preliminary conference of La Follette supporters will take place in Lincoln, at the Lindell hotel, on July 25, at 2 p. m., at which time plans will be formulated for calling a state convention to be held at a later date to place the candidates for president and vice president formally in nomination, and select presidential electors in their behalf.

The convention is necessary to comply with the state law, as that is the only means whereby legal nominations can be made after the primaries have been held. There will be county conventions previous to the

WHEELER SAYS MAY SUPPORT LA FOLLETTE

Democratic Prosecutor Of the Daugherty Investigating Committee Announces He Probably Will Aid Wisconsin Senator.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, democratic prosecutor of the Daugherty investigating committee, said today he probbaly would support Robert M. LaFollette in this year's presidential campaign.

"I do not see how I can support John W. Davis," said Senator Wheeler. "In view of my past position, I could not ask the people of my state to vote for Mr. Morgan's personal attorney.

Asked whether he would accept a nomination for vice president on the La Follette ticket for which he has been widedidly mentioned, Mr. Wheeler replied that he would not.

Not Quit Party.

The Montana senator added that he was not "quitting the democratic party," but merely was unable to convince himself that he could consistently support the nominee chosen at the New York convention.

He would not commit himself definitely regarding his support of the La Follette ticket, but when he was asked directly whether he would do so, replied that such a course was "probable."

Since he entered the senate, Senator Wheeler has been associated closely with several legislative enterprises with the La Follette bloc, but some of his colleagues have been predicting that he would not follow the Wisconsin senator in his independent campaign for the presidency. Until today he has kept his counsel on the subject pending a careful study of the whole situation.

May Continue Efforts.

Many of those who are taking part in the La Follette movement would like to see a ticket reading La Follette and Wheeler and it has been indicated that strong pressure was being brought to bear on the Daugherty committee prosecutor to join such a ticket. There was also evidence that pressure in that direction would be continued, despite Mr. Wheeler's declaration today that he could not take the nomination.

So far as revealed, Senator La-Follette himself has indicated no definite choice for a running mate.

Miss Duncan To Appeal Decision

CHICAGO, July 16. — Rosetta (Topsy)) Duncan and her brother, Harold, who were fined by a Cicero magistrate on a charge of "beating" that town's police force, will appeal the decision "all the way to the Supreme court," if necessary, their attorneys declared today.

At the same time it was announced that the nominal fine which they must pay for beating and biting "Cicero's finest" will not affect the determination of the 110-pound stage star and her brother to prosecute "also in the United States Supreme court, if necessary" their charges of assault and assault to kill against the Cicero policemen. Trial of the policemen is set for July 22 before an Evanston magistrate.

SAYS PLANS FOR 'DAWES DAY' AT FAIR UNDER WAY

McLaughlin Discusses Nebraska Political Situation With Coolidge.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 16—Prediction that California would be safely republican this year as it was in 1920, when Harding carried the state by 400,000, was made by Raymond Benjamin of San Francisco, republican leader and former state chairman after a conference today with the president.

"I cannot speak for Senator Johnson," he said, "but I can say that all of his leaders have enlisted in support of the republic ticket.

The conference with Mr. Benjamin was one of five political discussions held by Mr. Coolidge today with republicans from as many states. He conferred with Representative Vare of Pennsylvania; Senator Brandegee of Connecticut; Carmi Thompson of Ohio, and Representative McLaughlin of Nebraska.

"General Dawes will make an appeal to the voters of Nebraska equally as strong as Governor Charles W. Bryan, the democratic vice presidential nominee," said Representative McLaughlin, after his conference, during which he told the president of plans for a Dawes day' at the Nebraska fair early in September. Mr. Dawes first campaign address after his notification, will be delivered from his former home in Lincoln.

OLD-TIME PARADE TO HONOR DAWES

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 16.—Ceremonies of notifying General Charles G. Dawes of his nomination to the vice presidency August 19 will include an old-fashioned torchlight procession, Roy O. West, secretary of the republican national committee, announced Tuesday night. In the parade will march 1,000 republicans from Wisconsin, according to the predictions, which John E. Ferris of Milwaukee, says are conservative. Mr. Ferris conferred yesterday with Mr. West.

"Maybe Senator La Follette will be surprised at the number of Wisconsin people who will attend the Dawes notification," said Mr. Ferris, "I predict that the senator will have a fight for his own state."

All states surrounding Illinois will be invited to send delegates. Every county in Wisconsin, according to Mr. Ferris, will have a delegation.

Preparations will be elaborate, Mr. West said. The proceedings will be broadcast by radio.

Callers yesterday at the headquarters of the national committee, besides Mr. Ferris, included, Charles A. McCloud of York, Neb., member of executive national committee, on his way home to the state of the democratic vice presidential nominee.

GLOBE AIRMEN LEAVE FRANCE FOR ENGLAND

American Fliers Safely Complete Jump Across Channel From Paris to Croydon---Meet Mrs. MacLaren.

(Associated Press.)

CROYDON, England, July 16.—The American army airmen on their world flight, landed here at 2:08 o'clock this afternoon.

The aviators made the distance between Le Bourget and Croydon, estimated at 225 miles, in three hours and three minutes.

The three machines taxied easily into the Croydon airdrome after an uneventful flight across the channel from Paris. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the flight commander, was the first to land, and one of the first to greet the American airmen was Mrs. Stuart MacLaren, wife of the British world flier, who asked news of her husband, now in the Far East.

"I am sorry we missed him, but am glad we could help him," Lieutenant Smith replied to Mrs. MacLaren, referring to the new motor with which the American expeditionary forces were able to supply the British aviator in India last month.

In Splendid Health.

The aviators, tanned by the sun, were lean and brown but in splendid health after their 18,000 mile flight, two-thirds the way around the world.

There was an informal reception when the aviators landed, Frederick A. Sterling, counsellor of the American embassy, and Major Howard C. Davidson, assistant military attache, representing the embassy; Air Commodore C. A. H. Lonncroft, representing the British air ministry, and Air Commodore. R. Webb-Boren, the Royal Air force.

Ambassador Kellogg was unable to be present because of the opening of the reparation conference, but Mr. Sterling presented a letter of welcome from the ambassador.

The machines will remain at the Croydon airdrome overnight and possibly until Friday, when they hop off for Brough, where they will be overhauled and new engines installed, preparatory to the jumps to Iceland and Greenland and then home.

Depart From France.

LE BOURGET, France, July 16.—The American army round-the-world fliers hopped off from the airdrome here at 11:45 o'clock this morning for England.

A French commercial air liner accompanied the three United States airplanes to point out the way to the channel. They were followed by a French military escort of three planes.

The American fliers found life so pleasant in Paris that they decided to remain in the vicinity of the bright lights until the last moment, only allowing them sufficient time to arrive in London and keep a luncheon engagement with the British air officials.

President Doumergue was all prepared to pin the Legion of Honor to the breasts of the Americans at the Elyse Palace. It was said, however, that the executive was informed at the last moment that American army regulations require that approval for the bestowal of foreign decorations be first obtained from Washington.

To Be Decorated Later.

This will be asked for immediately and the pleasant duty of decorating the air heroes will be delegated to

BRYAN CEREMONY AFTER AUGUST 19

Because Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi is engaged in a primary campaign for renomination and the voting will not take place until August 19, the official notification ceremony for Governor Bryan as the vice presidential candidate of the democratic party may be delayed until after that time. The date will depend on Senator Harrison's convenience, Mr. Bryan announced Wednesday.

In any event, it will not be for a week or ten days after J. W. Davis is formally notified of his nomination to the presidency. Political custom requires that the vice presidential formalities shall follow those in honor of the head of the ticket.

Governor Bryan recalled Wednesday, in conversation with newspaper reporters, that Mr. Davis was the first man whom he was introduced to when he entered the convention hall at New York for the first time. He and Davis have since become better acquainted.

Large pictures of the candidates, printed as a supplement to an eastern newspaper, now adorn the governor's reception room at the capitol. They were sent to him by Mrs. C. A. Randall, wife of the railway commissioner. She is a democrat, and she utilized her husband, a republican, to deliver the sheet containing the pictures.

Mr. Bryan has not yet tendered to the democratic state committee and the secretary of state his withdrawal as a candidate for re-election to the gubernatorial office. He will do so before the committee meets, which will probably be some time next week.

Allen Not a Candidate for Governorship

The gubernatorial boom for T. S. Allen, chairman of the democratic state committee, one of the four men suggested by Governor Bryan as good timber for that office, has collapsed almost before it got started. Mr. Allen himself is the man who stuck a pin into the fabric of his boomlet and let all the wind out of it.

"I am not a candidate for governor and don't want the office," he told The Star Wednesday morning. "In fact, I might say that I wouldn't accept it if it came my way. Holdpublic office has no attraction for me. I prefer the practice of law. I am always willing to contriute some time and personal effort to the advancement of political principles in which I believe, but don't feel that I could assist in any way by being governor."

OUNDED MAN FACES CHARGE OF BURGLARY

first job that he had ever pulled, according to Captain Anderson. He was fully equipped with a kit of burglar tools, including wire-cutters, flashlight, several sets of keys, automatic revolver, sneak shoes, and "jimmie," police said.

According to the story told dby Jackson he came to Lincoln late Tuesday night from Council Bluffs, and rode out to the scene of the robbery on a street car. He had four car checks in his pockets.

The Arendt's were asleep and were only awakened when the officers shouted to Jackson to "halt" followed by pistol shots from both sides of the house. The telephone wires leading to the house had been cut.

"I just happened to look out of the window and saw someone go in the garage," said Mrs. Robinson, who indirectly is responsible for the capture of the burglar.

"Then he was in there so long that I thought I must have been mistaken. Pretty soon he came out and sneaked up to the back door. He worked there a while and then got the screen door and inside door open."

A screen door and two doors leading into the house were both locked, Mr. Arendt declared, but were picked by Jackson. The screen was uncut and the keys turned in the doors.

Ransacks House.

The downstairs part of the house was thoroughly ransacked, but he got nothing except a wrist watch belonging to Mrs. Arendt, which was lying on the sideboard. The watch was recovered.

"We saw him come out when the officers came and shouted to them where he was. Then they came running around and started shooting," Mrs. Robinson stated.

White fired two shots at the burglar and Goodwin three. Two shots lodged in his leg.

"You've got me. You broke my leg," Jackson shouted to the officers as they came running to where he had fallen to the pavement, White said.

Five persons sleeping in the Arendt home were not awakened until the shooting began. They were: Mr. and Mrs. George Arendt, Dan Arendt, Harold Bacon, of Holdrege, and a sister of Mr. Arendt, Mrs. Annie Bond, of San Diego.

Jackson claims to have no home. He was born in Detroit. He says he was on his way to Colorado.

Captain Anderson believes Jackson is familiar with the city.

AIRMEN LEAVE FOR ENGLAND

the French ambassador at the American capital.

Colonel de Goys, chief of staff to Laurent Eynac, under secretary for aviation, and Maj. Carlyle H. Wash assistant military attache, representing the American embassy, saw the airmen off, along with a crowd of admirers who spent all the morning watching the evolutions of the French military airplanes while waiting for the Americans to take off.

American flags were waved from the airdrome from the house tops nearby and from the field as the aviators went into the air accompanied by cries of "bon voyage," "good luck" and bravo. Couonel de Goys shoutad "Goodbye' loud enough to be heard above the din of the motors as the machines began to move and Lieutenant Smith yelled back: "No, not goodbye, au revoir."

Plenty of Attention..

The American airmen were the objects of all sorts of attentions up to the minute of their departure. Scores of photographs and postcards were presented for autographing, with many requests for them to do errands, impossible of execution.

Lieutenants Smith, Wade and Nelson, together with their mechanicians, Lieutenants Arnold and John Harding, jr., and Sergeant Ogden, went away in high spirits, confident they would be able to make up considerable time on their schedule, if their supplies reached them in Greenland promptly.

Col. Robert M. Thompson for the American Olympic athletes, sent a wireless message from Le Bourget to Croydon to be given to the fliers when they landed in England, conveying the American team's good wishes for success in the flight.

Money Drawn from Relief Fund.—On the application of the American Legion state relief committee for additional funds to carry out its work among needy ex-service men and their dependents, Land Commissioner Swanson has approved a voucher for $10,000 against the state relief fund, and a warrant for that amount is being drawn and delivered to the committee.

Credit Men Meet.—The Lincoln Retail Credit Men's association held a luncheon session at the chamber of commerce at noon Wednesday.

Wants Sand Loading Site—The state railway commission was occupied Wednesday in hearing a complaint by the Grand Island Sand Co. asking for a location on the Union Pacific belt line of railroad at that place, enabling it to load sand and gravel on cars direct from its pits. Ed P. Ryan appeared on behalf of the complainant.

Capitol Commission Meeting— The state capitol commission will meet Thursday at Governor Bryan's office at which time some conclusion will probably be reached as to continuing the services of the New York organization headed by the late Architect B. G. Goodhue. The governor and other members of the commission conferred at New York three weeks ago with the men now in charge of the office.

Wants Building Looked Over—The Nebraska Hardware Mutual Insurance Co. has written to the state fire commissioner's office asking that an investigation be made relative to the Turpin building at Newport. It was partly torn down and a meat market, icebox, and some other fixtures had been removed from it, prior to a fire which is said to have occurred there a few days ago, it is reportedd. Inspector H. F. Requartte will be sent to probe the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thornton returned Wednesday morning from Neligh where they had been attending a family reunion at the home of Mr. Thornton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thornton. The reunion continued for ten days and all of the children and grand children were there throughout the entire period. State Buys More Gasoline — Two more carloads of gasoline for the state filling station at Sixth and South streets have been boug' by Purchasing Agent Farris under the direction of Governor Bryan. One was obtained on a bid price of 11 1-2 cents per gallon, and the second cargo for 11 cents flat. These are the lowest prices the state has yet obtained on gasoline since last fall. What was previously purchased cost from 11 5-8 to 12 3-8 cents a gallon. Each of the carloads just arranged for will be about 10,000 gallons, making the cost of the two shipments in the neighborhood of $2,225 delivered at the filling station, ready for unloading.

FRUIT JAR BANK PROVES FAILURE

Richardson County Farmer Mourns Loss Of Small Fortune.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 16. — William Bek, tenant farmer living four miles north of here, is lamenting the loss of $2,700 all because he trusted a common fruit jar more than he did a bank.

For many months, Bek, distrustful of banks, had been filling his fruit jar, with $10 bills, hoping to soon save up enough to make a payment on a farm of his own. Ten dollar bills show more affluence, he thought, and anyway they occupy less space so he always changed his currency to uniform denomination. Finally, after patient toil and frugality, he saved up 270 of those greenbacks and bzegan to see the realization of his dream.

He first kept the fruit jar in his oats bin but the oats began to diminish, threatening to reveal the treasure so he transferred his "bank" to a drawer of a commode in his bedroom, locking it and always keeping the key about his person. The transfer was made about three weeks ago.

The other day Mr. Bek had occasion to draw on his "bank" to make a payment on some farm commodity and made his first checkup since the transfer. The jar was there but the money was gone.

AD MEN TO MEET AT HOUSTON, TEX.

Meeting Place For 1925 Chosen by Presidents at London Convention.

LONDON, July 15.—Houston, Tex., will be the scene of the 1925 international advertising convention. This place was the unanimous choice of the board of club presidents at a meeting last evening, and will be given approval by the general meeting of the delegates on Thursday as it is the only city which will be placed before the convention.

Lou Holland was the choice of the board for re-election as president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World for the next year, and Jesse N. Neal was also nominated for re-election as secretary-treasurer.

LA FOLLETTE TO FIGHT BATTLE

state gathering, for the purpose of choosing delegates to the Lincoln assemblage. Besides the delegates thus elected, the state convention may admit others who are known to be friendly to La Follette's candidacy. A total attendance of 500 is required by law in order to secure recognition and a place on the election ballot.

New Party After Election.

While the procedure to be followed is that prescribed by statute for the formation of new parties, the plan is to nominate La Follette, according to his expressed desire, under the simple designation of "independent" and certify the nomination as such to the secretary of state. The candidate for president is opposed to forming a third party at this time but will probably undertake that task following the national election.

Mr. Wylie will be in charge of the campaign in Nebraska for the time being at least, until the conference on July 25 and perhaps up to the date of the state convention following. Representatives of various progressive groups are expected to co-operate. Wylie will have headquarters at the Lindell.

A permanent organization in La Follete's interest is to be developed here, and it may be decided at the state convention to nominate candidates for some of the state offices. Norris will undoubtedly be endorsed for United States senator, although running as a republican. Norris is expected by the La Follette men to align himself with the new party when it is brought into being.

Italian Liner Carried $400,000 Narcotics Cargo; Consider Libelling.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—Federal authorities last night considered libelling the Italian-American liner Duilio, after a $400,000 narcotic raid at her pier early Tuesday and the arrest of nine of her crew.

Arturo Gaeta, ships plumber, confessed he had smuggled in the contraband, authorities reported. Gaeta's arrest was alleged to have caused him to confess also that he had smuggled to this country, on a fruitless mission of salesmanship, a stolen Michael Angelo for the return of which the Italian government had offered a $100,000 reward.

Gaeta was held in $15,000 bail. The Duilio's captain and seven of the chief officers, who disclaimed all knowledge of the narcotics, were held in $1,500 bail each.

While officials sought to communicate with the Italian government, for particulars of the stolen Michael Angelo, Edward Barnes, assistant solicitor of the legal division, customs department, announced that owners of the Duilio would be obliged to post $6,000 bond before their ship would be permitted to sail for Naples Saturday.

FIVE BIG GRAIN COMPANIES JOIN IN MERGER PLAN

Farmers to Eventually Control Largest Marketing System in Country.

Farm Bureau Federation Endorses Action, With Some Reservations.

TO OPERATE AT ONCE.

CHICAGO, July 16—Immediate operation will be begun by the Grain Marketing Co, the merged $26,000,000 capitalized concern which amalgamates four Chicago and one Kansas City grain company and which is designed eventually to be farmer-owned, controlled and operated.

The company wil start without delay to handle the grain crops that are now coming to market in the elevators it controls here and at other grain centers with a capacity of 50,000,000 bushels, according to John Callan O'Laughlin, spokesman for the grain merchants.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, July 16.— American farmers were given the opportunity to own the largest grain marketing company in the United States through the merger of five large grain companies, four from Chicago and one from Kansas City, effected here Tuesday.

The Grain Marketing Co., the merged concern, is capitalized at $26,000,000 and eventually is intended to be farmer-owned, controlled and operated. The companies merged are the Armour Grain Co., the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, the John C. Schaffer Grain Co., the Rosenbaum Brothers and Davis, Noland, Merrill Grain Co., the latter of Kansas City.

The new company, incorporated under the Illinois co-operative marketing act, which conforms to the national Capper-Volstead marketing act, will control elevator space, in Chicago and other cities, with a capacity of more than 30,000,000 bushels. The Bartlett Fraser Co., of Chicago, mentioned in original plans for the merger, is not included in the plans, but it was reported it might amalgamate later.

Under the financial plan for the merger, 1,000,000 shares of common stock of $1 per value, 1,000,000 shares of "A" preferred, of $25 par value, and 500,000 shares of "B" preferred, of $50 par value, will be issued. The "A" preferred will be sold only to farmers who will be given an opportunity to buy an equal number of shares of common stock, the common stock not to be disposed of in any other manner.

Sell Stock to Farmers Only.

The "B" preferred stock is to be redeemed as rapidly as the "A" preferred is sold, so that eventually farmers will be the only stockholders in the company, as stock is to be sold only to farmers, producers and grain growers.

Besides large elevator space in Chicago, the merged concern will also control space in Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Fort Worth, and points in the east including Toledo, Fairport, Ohio, Erie, Pa., Buffalo, and some export points including Glveston, Texas City, Texas, Norfolk and Depot Harbor.

The committee representing co-operative elevator concerns, the American Farm Bureau federation and various other farm agencies of a co-operative nature which has been studying the proposition and which has endorsed the plan with reservations, said that it will continue to watch developments of the project for a time before taking final action.

The executive officials of the big grain companies includedd in the merger have offered to run the merged company for five years and instruct the growers in the handling of grain. The executives of the five companies, according to their plan, will work on a salary basis, the new company being run by a board of directors with the farmers in control the board it is planned to have men of two-thirds of the directorate. On representing the elevator companies grain dealers, bankers and railroads.

Assist All Co-Operatives.

The new company, those in charge of the merger said, will assist all co-operatives in marketing their grain and solving financial problems and will effect economies by combining offices, leased wires, and other facilities.

The two classes of preferred stock to be issued each will bear 8 per cent dividends and will be identical as to assets and other features, but the "B" preferred is not to be offered to the public. Part of it, according to the plan, is too be used in paying for the elevators and intangible assets of the selling companies and the balance is to remin in the treasury to be used as working capital.

Among results, anticipated, according to the announcements, are absolute ownership by farmers of their own marketing agencies, control of ample credit for any transactions the company may undertake, participation in economies resulting from the taking over of the concerns, adoption in a practical way of the principle of co-operation, and participation in the earnings of the company, both in investments dividends and patronage dividends.

Samples of Intolerance.

Here are a few samples of intolerance that have come under my observation. Small wonder is it that I have no patience and but scant respect for such people. I have been in ap osition where I could not only observe their tactics but I have had occasion to meet and deal with them and I have had my fill of that class of people and am thoroughly sick and disguested with them. I too wish they would all go to some far away isle and reform each other and themselves to their heart's content. We can well dispense with their services. I can endure anything but a busybody, a snoop or a bigot. They are as great a plague as any that ever fell upon ancient Egypt.

Some years ago Kansas City, Missouri, suffered an unusual epidemic of petty crimes. Down there they have what they call "waffle shops," little holes in the wall where waffles, sandwiches, coffee and other light refreshments are dispensed. Many of them are kept by foreigners and it seems the police discovered that some of the hold-ups and other crimes had been planned by the patrons of these cheap little restaurants, whereupon the "reform element' went on the war path and demanded that the city officials close up the waffle shope. I suppose that if a bunch of thugs should plan a hold-up in a gocery store and later carry out their plans that this self same bunch of egotists would want to put a padlock upon the door of every grocery store in creation. It is a pleasure to report that the big town by the river paid no attention to its cranks and that innocent people were not deprived of their business just to gratify the whims of a set of selfish tyrants who have nothing more worthwhile to do in life than to try and make themselves conspicuous.

Last summer a little girl here in Lincoln, coasting down the driveway into the street upon one of these little two-wheeled kiddy-cars that children delight in ran in front of a passing automobile and was killed. It was not the fault of the driver for he was proceeding slowly; the little girl did not see the car and darted directly in front of it. It was just one of those unfortunate accidents that will occur now and then.

A western city has had a number of similar accidents whereupon the feminists, the women's clubs and all such have arisen in arms and have gone gunning for somebody's goat. These Meddlesome Mollies and paddlers in the political puddle wanting to do something unique and not knowing just what they want or how to do it have petitioned the mayor of that city to pass an ordinance forbidding the sale and use of these toys. Because a few parents are careless and permit their children to play in the streets with disasterous results they would bring sorrow to thousands of children by depriving them of something that is perfectly harmless and proper when used as it should be. There you have the spirit of the modern reformer exuding intolerance at every pore. "Abusus non tollit usum."

Abuse is not an argument against proper use.

The burned child dreads the fire and I suppose that it is only natural that those who have suffered through some specific thing should look with more or less suspicion and disfavor upon that which caused their grief even though they suffered more or less through their own carelessness, nevertheless we should not permit ourselves to be swayed by prejudice or permit bigotry to blind us to the good and useful side of a thing simply because it may possess some elements of danger or undesirability.

When a young girl my mother had the misfortune to be severely injured in a runaway. She received a shock from which she never fully recovered and seems to have an uncontrollable horor of anything upon four wheels excepting a trolly car or a railroad train. She rarely could be induced to get into a carriage nor does she take kindly to the automobile. She was always quoting the Biblical phrase, "A horse is a vain thing for safety." Undoubtedly the horse is or rather was a vain thing for safety because we were adminished to handle the rose with care did not mean that we were to eschew the use of that valuable animal altogether.

Mamie Dickens, daughter of Charles Dickens, the famous English novelist in the memoirs of her father said that Mr. Dickens once had the misfortune to be in a railroad wreck. They had travelled about an hour when the accident occurred and while Mr Dickens being well in the rear of the train escaped injury there were others who were less fortunate, and he saw many horrible and pitiful sights and was so shocked that he never entered a railroad train after that, but what he was always seized with a nervous chill just about an hour after the journey began and while he travelled a great deal he was never able to master the sensation.

Some years ago a lady of my acquaintance and a very fine woman, lost her favorite niece. The girl was bitten by a pet dog and lingered about a month in all the horrors of hydrophobia, locked in a garred room, rational and semi-rational, at times calling for her mother, who dared not enter the room to comfort her while at other times she gnawed the furniture and tore the bedding into shreds in afrenzy of agony. It must have been a terrible experience for all who witnessed it and what was the result? My friend hated dogs and cats as most of us hate a rattle snake. She often said that not one of them should be permitted to live and she never permitted her children to possess one My ssiters and I grew up with a host of pets of all kinds, in fact we always had a small menagerie around us but when the friend above referred to come to visit us they were locked in the barn or down cellar in deference to her wishes so as not to mar her visit. Boyhood has missed half its joy without the comradship of some faithful dog and who does not recall with affectionate regret loveable old pussycats that were the constant companions of small girls and who meekly submitted to be dressed up in dolls clothes and mauled around from morning until night and seemed to enjoy the mauling too?

Right now the Rev. Noel J. Allen, who is connected with the fish and game department of the state of Virginia in some official capacity has declared war upon all the housecats in the Old Dominion. He says that the cast is by nature savage, vicious and cruel, that it slaughters thousands of birds and domestic fowls every year, that it never has been and never can be domesticated, that there are no instances on record where cats ever saved a human life or befriended their master in any way, that it is an inveterate thief and the greatest foe that mankind has to contend with, that he knows of two people who died from cat bites and has heard of them poisoning the breath of babies and attacking the bodies of the head and that if he has his way about it he will drive all the cats out of Virginia as St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland. In other words he will make the Old Dominion as catless as the prohibitionists would like to make the country liquorless, something that both stand about as much chance of accomplishing as they do of traveling safely from here to the moon and back by an air ship. In his ignorance bigotry and hatefulness the Reverened gentleman has succeeded in working himself up into a perfect frenzy. With all his education there are some things he does not know and one would think that a minister of the Gospel and a man holding an important public office would be in bigger business and could find something more worthwhile with which to occupy his time than seeking the destruction of those inoffesnive creatures. Rev. Allen condemns the cat for killing birds. Does he condemn birds for killing beautiful butterflies, and what does he think of humans who raise fine cattle, sheep, etc, and slaughter them by the millions every year? The cat merely kills to satisfy its natural craving and hunger the same as humans do, and further what does the reverened gentleman think of people who frequently kill each other—the United tSates having about ten thousand murders last year, to say nothing of the millions slaughtered in the late war? The Rev. Allen is a cheap burlesquer, a player to the gallery. Like some other preacher politicians he probably feels in need of a little notoriety and an issue to get elected to some political office and possessing none worthwhile he has saught to create one with the cat as his victim and like others of his ilk he care little who or what suffers as long as he attains his own selfish desires.

Fortunately for pussy thousands of years of history refute every charge that the Rev. Allen has brought against her. The Egyptians held cats in high esteem. Among the wonders of that vast treasure house the British Museum is the mummified body of a young man of about twenty years of age taken from a tomb at Thebes some years ago. This boy lived more than four thougsand years ago or something like eight hundred years before King Tut. He was not a king but seems to have been a personage of rank and wealth judging from the treasures found in his sepulchre. He also must have been a fastidious chap judging from his possessions, numerous perfume jars, cosmetic boxes, jewels, the remains of fine clothing, musical instruments and bows and arrows of exquisite workmanship and the mummified forms of a number of canaries, two cats and a falcon with hunting regalia that were the pets of this dandy of a bygone day who thought too much of his little bird and animal friends to permit their bodies to disintegrate into nothingness and return to the elements after death. So skilfully have the old Egyptian embalmers performed their task that these creatures look as though they lived but yesterday and one can hardly realize that more than four thousand years have come and gone since the falcon perched upon its master's hand upon some gay hunting part in the long ago and as one looks upon the still, quiet forms of those little golden canaries it is difficult to realize that they have been silent so long, that more than forty centuries have flitted by since their tiny bodies throbbed with the breath of life as they flitted to and from in some gilded aviary and filled the air with joyous melody in their master's home in that lotus land beside the Nile.

TO OIL UP G. O. P. PARTY MACHINERY

Leaders Decide to Organize During Month Until the Notification.

Butler to Confer With President Coolidge On Work of Campaign.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 16—After delaying opening of the national campaign until August 14, the republican leaders decided Tuesday to use the intervening month in building up a smoothly running party machine.

The framework of the party organization, as turned over by John T. Adams, the retiring national chairman, and added to by William M. Butler the new natonal chairman, is to be strengthened and rounded out under present plans; additional headquarters are to be opened; any existing factional differences will be eliminated so far as possible, and the whole situation brought to a point where the campaign can be energetically put under way after President Coolidge sounds the keynote at his notification ceremonies here August 14.

The plan for the intervening month of work will be discussed by Mr. Coolidge with Chairman Butler before the end of the week. Mr. Butler was to arrive here today but late yesterday word was received at the white house that because of delay in the opening of the New York headquarters he would not be able to come to Washington for probably two or three days. The New York offices, when opened, will be in general charge of Charles D. Hillis, national committeeman of that state.

Mr. Coolidge also will take up with Mr. Butler the creation of an advisory committee. The advisory committee as conceived by Mr. Coolidge will be an informal body with its membership dependent largely upon the problems that arise. It is not the purpose of the present republican campaign management to create a definite advisory committee as was done in 1920, when Chairman Hays selected the late A. T. Hert of Kentucky, Mr. Hillis, John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, and Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, as his official advisors.

Some associated with the present management believe that a small group which will include C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the president, and Charles B. Warren, retiring ambassador to Mexico, should be on call constantly in an advisory capacity. Others will be called in from time to time to give advice.

Swedish People Will Picnic At Epworth Park

The Swedish people of Lancaster county and surrounding territory will hold their annual outing at Epworth park next Sunday afternoon. Adam McMullen of Beatrice, republican candidate for governor will be the principal speaker of the day. Clifford Toren, baritone, will sing a group of songs.

Full privileges of the grounds and the use of all boats has be n granted to thepicnickers.

Each family is to bring its own basket lunch. Ice cream will be served free to the children.

Plans for a union evening service in the tabernacle in charge of local churches have been abandoned.

A Super-Clay

Brought me beauty and perennial youth

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I look back on a glorious career. First, as a famous beauty. Then for 35 years a stage star. And now, at a grandmother's age, a beauty still, playing a beauty's part.

Edna Wallace Hopper Photo 1923

I owe all that to several factors, but the greatest is a new-type clay. Now I have arranged with druggists and toilet counters toto supply it to every woman. I want it to bring to others what it brought to me—multiplied beauty, decades of added youth.

My White Youth Clay

Old clays were crude and muddy. Mine is white, refined and dainty. Old types had one clay—mine has two. There are eleven ingredients embodied in mine, to bring the maximum results.

I owe this clay to men who have given it many years of scientific study. It is a super-clay, amazing in its quick and lasting benefits. I have seen many plain girls become beauties with one application. I have seen older women seem to drop ten years.

Clay is a beauty essential. No girl can look her best without it, no woman keep her youth. Look at France—where girls are all beauties and women all young. That is largely due to clay.

I have no great interest in urging women to use my particular clay. But I do urge them to use some clay. I have found that mine brings multiplied results, but better the old types than none.

The magical effects

My White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs or mars it. It draws out the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which so amazes and delights. Husbands tell me they hardly know their wives after they use White Youth Clay.

If firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduced enlarge pores. It wards off every sign of age.

I will gladly mail sample if you mail this coupon.

Two Ministers Are Chased as "Bootleggers" by Uni. Place Cop

Two Presbyterian pastors Rev Messrs Nickerson of Wahoo and H ton of Colon returning home from Lincoln in a Ford coupe were mistaken for a pair of bootleggers and chased some distance along the Cornhusker highway by Speed Cop Lewis of University Place a few days ago On being overtaken and stopped they succeeded in convincing him that they had no liquor in their car and were permited to go on their way

It was a natural mistake on the part of Officer Lewis who is constable of his precinct and a special agent of the state law enforcement bureau which aroused his suspicions relative to the car occupied by the two divines He had been instructed to keep a lookout for just that kind of a car which was expected to be going out with a ... It happened that the ministers wanted to pass another car on the road the driver of which refused to turn out of the smooth traveled tracks along the lefthand side and they finally went around him on the right contrary to highway regulations

When Lewis saw this and started in pursuit intending to admonish the occupants against violating the rules of the road they thought he was another driver trying to pass them and they in turn speeded up The officer was thus led to believe that he had hit the trail of the booze car He also stepped on the gas finally overtaking them and bringing their car to a halt

"Guess you'll have to turn over that moonshine stuff you've got in there and come along with me" remarked the constable

Two Ministers Are Chased as "Bootleggers" by Uni. Place Cop

Two Presbyterian pastors, Rev. Messrs. Nickerson of Wahoo and Horton of Colon, returning home from Lincoln in a Ford coupe, were mistaken for a pair of bootleggers and chased some distance along the Cornhusker highway by Speed Cop Lewis of University Place, a few days ago. On being overtaken and stopped, they succeeded in convincing him that they had no liquor in their car, and were permited to go on their way.

It was a natural mistake on the part of Officer Lewis, who is constable of his precinct and a special agent of the state law enforcement bureau, which aroused his suspicions relative to the car occupied by the two divines. He had been instructed to keep a lookout for just that kind of a car which was expected to be going out with a load of booze. It happened that the ministers wanted to pass another car on the road, the driver of which refused to turn out of the smooth-traveled tracks along the lefthand side, and they finally went around him on the right, contrary to highway regulations.

When Lewis saw this and started in pursuit, intending to admonish the occupants against violating the rules of the road, they thought he was another driver trying to pass them and they in turn speede dup. The officer was thus led to believe that he had hit the trail of the booze car. He also stepped on the gas, finally overtaking them and bringing their car to a halt.

"Guess you'll have to turn over that moonshine stuff you've got in there and come along with me," remarked the constable.

The ministers had some trouble convincing him of their identity, and not until they invited him to search their car were his suspicions allayed.

Bruce Shurtleff Wednesday morning started the erection of a four-story brick apartment house at the corner of Twelfth and H streets, at estimated cost of $30,000. The question of issuing the permit to Mr. Shurtleff has been before the council for a month. After the application was filed Shurtleff objected to the complying with the set-back ordinance and the council, convinced that the ordinance could not be enforced in this instance, amended it to permit Shurtleff to build on the lot line. OMAHA Neb July 16— Bishop Ernest V Shayler Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Nebraska returned to Omaha today from a three and a half month trip which carried him to Palestine on a pilgrimage and to most of the central and eastern European countries

The two objectives of the pilgrimage were First to aid in inaugurating the spirit of the crusade by inducing the Eastern or Greek church to unite with the church of England and the American Episcopal church and second to visit the places made sacred by the earthly life of Christ

Forty clerics of the churches of England Ireland Scotland and Wales and more than two hundred laymen comprised the pilgrimage which assembled at London

The crusade was very successful said Bishop Shayler We were welcomed and received hospitably by the leading ecclesiastics of the eastern churches The Greek Armenian Coptic and Latin Patriarchs of Jerusalem all tendered us receptions and we conferred with all of these dignitaries

Conditions in Greece are pitiable said Bishop Shayler due to their own political upheavals and to their efforts to care for the Greeks who have been driven from Turkey

Larger Volume of New Hay is Moving In Western States

New hay both timothy and alfalfa began moving in larger volume in central western markets during the week ending July 12 states the United States department of agriculture in its weekly hay market review

In the eastern markets where receipts are still entirely of old hay good hay sold at slightly higher prices than during the previous week the review stated No 1 timothy advanced $1 to $2 per ton at New York and held firm at the last week's prices in the Boston market Both of these markets were well supplied with the lower grades which were slow sale

Other eastern states markets were practically unchanged Receipts were light at both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and demand was not of large volume continued the review It declared that the first arrivals of new crop hay appeared upon the Cincinnati market but were of good quality and sold at practically the same price as the old hay

The market remained firm but buyers took only sufficient hay for their immediate needs and were inclined to await an increased movement of new hay said the report

New clover arrived at St Louis and sold at around $18 00 No new timothy was reported but old timothy price were steady and the demand less active Light receipts held the Chicago market firm but the trade bought slowly supplying only their immediate needs

The alfalfa market continued fairly firm There was a fair movement of new alfalfa from Kansas and Colorado The better grades of good color were in good demand in the southeast and south Eastern buyers were also in the market for Colorado hay of the better grades Feeders in the territory tributary to Kansas City were the principal buyers of brown feeding alfalfa at that market

New alfalfa was expected at the Omaha market within the next few days

Pacific coast markets continued firm upon a good demand which was occasioned by the drouth in that territory

Receipts of new prairies hay increased at Kansas City and hay is expected to arrive at Omaha next week Market is upon a new crop basis at Kansas City with the demand more active

WHEAT YIELD IS BEST FOR YEARS

Central Platte Valey To Have Thirty Bushels to the Acre.

(International News Service.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 16—Wheat yields in Lower Loup and Central Platte valleys will run over 30 bushels to the acre grain dealers announced today. For the first time in years wheat ears are completely headed out, due to cool weather and slow maturity.

Union Pacific and Burlington lines declare for the first time since the war period no car shortage exists to handle 60 per cent of the total yield to be placed on the markets at once, due largely to light corn movement. Sidings are filled with empty grain cars.

Fifteen apply here for every three harvest jobs, according to figures of employment bureaus. Harvest field job seekers for the first time since 1914 are largely students, and vacationists.

Member of Society Of the Cincinnati

(Special to The Star.)

M'COOK, Neb., July 16.—To few Americans and perhaps to no other Nebraskan has come the honor with such unusual circumstances as the distinction which came to Thomas Fremont Rowell of this city, this week, when he was notified of his election to a hereditary membership in the Society of the Cincinnati of the state of New Hampshire, an honor which comes to him through his ancestor, Captain William Rowell of the Second New Hampshire regiment an original member of the society, and a captain in the Revolutionary days.

This honor has lain dormant in the Rowell family for a century and is now revived in Mr. Rowell of this city, directly through his father Columbus B. Rowell, who was an early settler of McCook.

Only a very limited number now hold hereditary membership in this order of revolutionary days, it having been organized in 1783 in the state of New Hampshire.

Prizes Are Awarded To Summer Campers

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 16—Arthur Solomon, Fremont and Kenneth Sutherland, Fremont, are this year's winners of physical and aquatic sports respectively at the statewide Y. M. C. A. boy's camp which closed in Camp Sheldon yesterday. Pennants for having the honor cottage in camp with the most boy leaders in all lines was awarded the David City, Neb., delegation of eleven boys. The camp closed with a meeting featured by a bible story contest, each of the boys limited to four minutes. The three victors were: David Hieb, Hartington, telling the story of Jonah; Walter Truex, Norfolk, story of Joseph; Jack Ericson, Newman Grove, who told the story of the three men in the fiery furnace. The majority of the 150 Nebraska boys in camp here were taken to their homes by their parents who came to Columbus by auto at the close of the ten day period.

(Special to The Star.)

BISHOP SHAYLER FROM PALESTINE

Episcopal Prelate Returns From Europe and the Holy Land.

OMAHA, Neb., July 16.— Bishop Ernst V. Shayler, Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Nebraska, returned to Omaha today from a three and a half month trip which carried him to Palestine on a pilgrimage and to most of the central and eastern European countries.

The two objectives of the pilgrimage were: First, to again inaugurate the spirit of the crusade by inciting the Eastern or Greek church, to unite with the church of England, and the American Episcopal church; and second, to visit the places made sacred by the earthly life of Christ.

Forty clerics of the churches of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales and more than two hundred laymen comprised the pilgrimage, which assembled at London.

"The crusade was very successful," said Bishop Shayler. "We were welcomed and received hospitably by the leading ecclesiastics of the eastern churches. The Greek, Armenian, Coptic and Latin Patriarchs of Jerusalem all tendered us receptions and we conferred with all of these dignitaries."

"Conditions in Greece are pitiable," said Bishop Shayler, "due to their own political upheavals and to their efforts to care for the Greeks who have been driven from Turkey."

Parachute Flares For Night Planes

OMAHA, Neb., July 16.—Night air mail planes are to be equipped with parachute flares, perfected by engineers of the service here, for use when fliers have to make emergency landings. The new flares which are to take the place of those used on the wings of the planes are ignited by friction when they leave the "ships" and cast a brilliant light over the ground for a mile as they slowly descend.

Two night mail planes were delayed about half an hour by thunderstorms in Iowa and Nebraska, Pilot D. C. Smith, flying west, landing at an emergency field at Des Moines and Pilot E. F. White, coming from Cheyenne stopping at Grand Island.

Air Mail Lincoln To New York Day Ahead Of Trains

To show the greater rapidity of the air mail service over all-rail mail service the office of the superintendent of the fourteenth division, in Omaha, has sent out a schedule comparison in accordance with instructions from Washington.

Air mail makes the journey to New York from Lincoln at least one day ahead of that by rail, and from San Francisco to Lincoln one delivery of rail mail reaches the city a day and a half behind the air service. Departing times have been chosen as nearly as possible to coincide in making the comparison, which is as follows:

Air Service.

Leave Lincoln 5:35 p. m. Arrive New York 5:05 p. m. next day.
Leave Lincoln 6:00 p. m. Arrive San Francisco 5:45 p. m. next day.
Leave New York 10:00 a. m. Arrive Lincoln 8:32 a. m. next day.
Leave San Francisco 6:00 a. m. Arrive Lincoln 8:32 a. m. next day.

By Rail.

Leave Lincoln 5:30 p. m. Arrive New York 5:25 p. m. second day.
Leave Lincoln 9:30 p. m. Arrive San Francisco 8:30 a. m. third day.
Leave New York 2:46 p. m. Arrive Lincoln 1:50 a. m. second day .
Leave San Francisco 11:00 a. m. Arrive Lincoln 12:05 a. m. third day.

The hour given for leaving Lincoln is that of departure of trani to Omaha. Letters must be posted ahead of this time.

Larger Volume of New Hay is Moving In Western States

New hay, both timothy and alfalfa, began moving in larger volume in central western markets during the week ending July 12, states the United States department of agriculture in its weekly hay market review.

In the eastern markets where receipts are still entirely of old hay, good hay, sold at slightly higher prices than during the previous week, the review stated. No. 1 timothy advanced $1 to $2 per ton at New York and held firm at the last week's prices in the Boston market. Both of these markets were well supplied with the lower grades which were slow sale.

Other eastern states markets were practically unchanged. Receipts were light at both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and demand was not of large volume, continued the review. It declared that the first arrivals of new crop hay appeared upon the Cincinnati market but were of good quality and sold at practically the same price as the old hay.

"The market remained firm but buyers took only sufficient hay for their immediate needs and were inclined to await an increased movement of new hay, said the report.

"New clover arrived at St. Louis and sold at around $18.00. No new timothy was reported but old timothy price were steady and the demand less active. Light receipts held the Chicago market firm but the trade bought slowly, supplying only their immediate needs.

"The alfalfa market continued fairly firm. There was a fair movement of new alfalfa from Kansas and Colorado. The better grades of good color were in good demand in the southeast and south. Eastern buyers were also in the market for Colorado hay of the better grades. Feeders in the territory tributary to Kansas City were the principal buyers of brown feeding alfalfa at that market.

"New alfalfa was expected at the Omaha market within the next few days.

"Pacific coast markets continued firm upon a good demand, which was occassioned by the drouth in that territory.

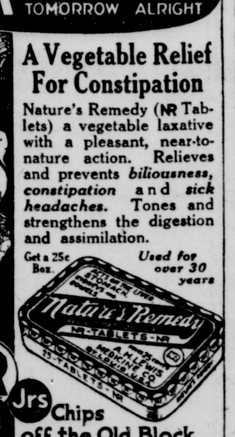

"Receipts of new prairies hay increased at Kansas City and hay is expected to arrive at Omaha next week. Market is upon a new crop basis at Kansas City, with the demand more active.

CLEVELAND, O., July 16.—Hotel proprietors of the United States are 3 to 1 opposed either to the repeal or modification of the national prohibition law, according to John McFarland Howie, chairman of the educational committee of the American Hotel association, who addressed the national convention Tuesday.

Completes 11th Year as Director at Y. M. Camp

O. B. Anderson, director of athletics and activities at Camp Strader, Crete, under auspices of Lincoln Y. M. C. A., who closed his eleventh successive year in this capacity Monday. The boys in group four, who returned to Lincoln Tuesday, commemorated the event with an appropriate program at the Monday dinner hour, reviewing the events of Mr. Anderson's regime. More than 3,500 boys have passed through Mr. Anderson's hand during the eleven years, without a single drowning and there has not been a serious accident of any kind.

Strader is rated as a class A camp, for the western region of Y. M. C. A., based upon program, location, attendance, water facilities, camp construction and equipment.

The camp runs seventy days, with a new group of boys arriving each ten days, and while maintained primarily for Lincoln boys, others are welcome to join at the beginning of any given period. Hastings sends one group each season, and they are now at camp.

Camp Director Anderson left Tuesday for Estes Park, where he will direct athletics for two weeks at a Y. M. C. A. summer school. R. Smith, his assistant, will have charge of boys' work and athletics at Strader during Mr. Anderson's absence.

Monday evening Crete Rotary was entertained at stunt night at the camp, every man joining heartily into the games. The Rotarians treated the lads to their fill of ice cream at the close of the program. Lincoln Rotary will support sixty boys at the camp this season.

WOULD PROBATE FATHER'S WILL

Alexander Guelker Files Petition—Other Heirs Want Estate Administered.

A petition asking that the will of Gottlieb Carl Guelker be probated was filed in County court Wednesday by Alexander C. Guelker of Daykin, Neb., a son. The other heirs, including the widow, Mrs. Caroline Guelker had previously filed a petition asking that the estate be administered, treating the will as though it had never been made. The petition for probate will be heard August 8.

The will will probably be attacked on the ground that Mrs. Guelker was entitled to one-fourth of the estate, although she was only given, in the will, $2,500, the household furniture, and a life estate in the home in College View.

The bulk of the $125,000 estate about $75,000 was left to the Missouri synod of the Evangelical church. The children were left amounts varying from $10 to $5,000.

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES.

In the series of destructive forest fires which are causing such heavy losses on the Pacific coast and in the Rocky mountain region a new element enters Practically all of the fires which are the worst in recent years have been started by lightning The theory that years have been started by lightning were of incendiary origin has been fairly well exploded although in some instances careless fire fighting by volunteer fighters add to the seriousness of the situation

For years the forestry service has been conducting a campaign among the people of this country to eliminate lumber losses resulting from fires started through carelessness of campers tourists trappers and hunters and others passing through the timber tracts in the mountains and along the western coast The south has very largely escaped the destructive fires in the large tracts of yellow pine for which that region is noted But Michigan Minnesota Wisconsin Colorado Montana Nevada and the Pacific coast each year suffer heavily from forest fires Heretofore carelessness has been the largest factor to combat Innumerable forest fires have started from the smoldering coals of an unguarded camp fire But apparently the forestry service's campaign has been fruitful Human agencies cannot be held responsible for the serious situation now facing the lumber interests in five western states the rangers report

Climatic conditions are said to have been ideal for fires The forest tracts on the Pacific coast and on the western slopes of the Rockies are particularly dry Lack of moisture during the winter and the early spring presaged trouble weeks ago

In the Missouri national forest in Montana 222 out of 280 fires starting this spring are directly traceable to lightning bolts according to the forest rangers on guard In the Clearwater National forest 90 fires have been started by lightning

That is a situation which baffles those men who are entrusted with the responsibility of protecting the national forests There are no precautions which can be taken to prevent forest fires starting by lightning In a large number of instances the forest rangers have been quick enough on the scene to prevent an extensive spread of the flames but that is the limit of their efforts The heaviest losses came in isolated forest regions where the flames got such a start and were driven through the dry forest by furious winds which made it practically impossible to stop the fires until they had taken their full sweep The principal consolation comes in the knowledge that this has been a most unusual year The lightning has not hit probably any more often than in other seasons but the exceedingly dry conditions in the forests makes the danger of fires doubly acute

Even to the people of the prairie states there is something which appeals strongly to the imagination in forest fires The blaze which caused such heavy loss in the Santa Barbara national forest covered over a million acres of timber For two days the fire was burning on a fifteen mile front licking up everything before it and sending up vast clouds of smoke until the skies were darkened In one county out of the seven affected Siskiyou there were fifteen distinct and separate fires raging each calling for an army of volunteer fighters

A continuance of the situation a week longer will make the timber loss the most serious America has faced in the last decade With lumber gradually becoming more difficult to obtain each year these forest fires are as unwelcome and as costly as they are spectacular

LINCOLN RANKS HIGH

In the latest tabulation of statistics relating to the infant mortality rate Lincoln takes first place among Nebraska cities as a healthy place to raise children and is well up toward the top in the compilations of the entire nation

The report places Lincoln's infant death rate at 54 which means that 54 children out of every 1 000 born during the year died within their first year

Omaha ranked second in 1923 with a rate of 67 Hastings came third with 89 and North Platte fifth with 96 The state average for these five cities is 67 which places Nebraska fifth in the list of thirty states and the district of Columbia

NO RESTRICTION ON VOTERS RIGHTS

It is not likely that Robert M La Follette will be able to muster sufficient support in Nebraska to carry the state at the coming election as a candidate for president against Davis and Coolidge His record in the world war and the feeling that he is not a safe man to entrust with the control of governmental affairs at Washington will count heavily against him in the minds of men and women ...

A BIT OF HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

HAVING MADE FULL USE OF YOUR TALENT YOU HAVE NOTHING TO REGRET

If you have really tried do not be discouraged because another has made a greater success than you in the world

If you have made full use of your talents you have done as much as the other fellow who is more gifted

Yet it is more likely that you have not done your best

And now you are excusing yourself for your neglect when the matter was hard and disagreeable

Very often you enter enthusiastically into certain projects but it becomes harder and harder to work as your interest wanes

Indeed you can look back on some of your failures and realize that a little more perseverance a little more self denial and study would have won a certain degree of success

Perhaps you are one of the many who cannot stand competition

And this trait was apparent in you as a youngster ... when you were in athletics ... went well in the lead ... but when the contestant passed you

Is this true of you now?

Cancer Cures Are Discredited

Hope sprang up in the hearts of thousands when newspapers announced recently that two cures for cancer had been found These hopes were quickly dashed by statements issued under the authority of the American Medical association Editorially the association Journal said

In the early part of 1921 a special committee appointed by the council of the Academy of Medicine of Toronto was unable to find any evidence to show that the serum (of Dr T J Glover of Toronto) had produced a cure in any case definitely established as cancer About the same time Dr Francis Carter Wood director of cancer research at Columbia university reported that he had found no evidence that the product had any effect on the growth of tumors

The second cancer cure exploited was that of Dr William F Koch of Detroit Detroit Koch's nostrum was brought to public attention in a statement made before The American Association for the Study and Cure of Cancer' a newly formed organization that must not be confused with the well established American Society for the Control of Cancer The committee appointed by the medical society made two reports both unfavorable to the cure'

So far as the 'cures' of William F Koch and T J Glover are concerned, it cannot be too earnestly asserted that neither one is in any sense established as either scientific or reliable

When a cure for cancer comes it will be welcomed by the medical profession just as insulin (for diabetes) toxin anti toxin (the diphtheria preventitive) and the new scarlet fever serum have been welcomed and put to use

Until that day comes reliance for cancer cures must be placed solely on early diagnosis and surgery

The First Amendment.

(Omaha World Herald)

It was a blind man a distinguished citizen of Iowa M F Healy of Fort Dodge who said impressively to the democratic national convention

'The noblest spectacle of human history was the spectacle of our fathers engaged in government building They knew the long sad story of the past and the first amendment to the constitution they put in living letters of fire the guarantees that mean more to the American people than all other clauses combined

The speaker described in the dispatches as a man of kingly presence and dignified bearing with a voice deep and finely modulated then proceeded to quote the first amendment

Congress shall make no law looking toward the establishment of religion nor preventing the free exercise thereof or abridging or denying the right of free speech and a free press or denying the right of peaceable assemblage to petition for redress of grievances

A great many people may have wondered why the convention devoted so much time and eloquence and deep feeling to determine in just phrasing it should reaffirm its devotion to that provision of the constitution Some have been impatient disgusted because the democratic party turned from such issues as tariff and taxes and currency and railroads and foreign policy to denounce the evil of religious and racial intolerance brought into new life by the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan

But the reason was truly stated by the great Iowa leader who blind to material objects rejoices in a keener vision of spiritual and historical truth The guarantees of the first amendment do indeed mean more to the American people than any others to be found in the constitution Mr Healy tells why

The men who wrote that knew how in the early days the Christians went down into the catacombs to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences They knew the history of the persecutions of the first three hundred years under Roman emperors

They knew the centuries of conflict between Christians and Moslems They knew every shot where men and women have died for conscience sake the sad sad story of Italy and Spain France the Rhine provinces of Germany the Thirty Years war fought because of religious differences They knew the meaning of the battle field of Luetzen where Gustav Adolph and Pappenheim received their death wounds They knew the story of the fagot fires of England and Scotland where each side burned the other in the name of God They had heard the story of the little village in Ireland where stil lat nightfall little children seem to hear the eschoes of the shrieks of three hundred women and children butchered by a fanatical army

They knew full well the story of the greatest scene of all the scene where the sun darkened and the earth shook and the graves opened and gave up their dead and the dying Savior on the cross called out 'Father forgive them for they know not what they do

I speak here for myself as a member of the Iowa delegation but I want to put into articulate form the yearnings and the demands from every voting precinct in the United States, that this great provision of our constitution applies today as the day it was written

That is worth thinking about at a time when deluded men are scurrying over the country organizing secret political societies based on racial and religious intolerence

There is just one reason why in these United States we are not fighting murdering burning one another for opinion's sake It is because we have believed in and practiced the tolerant principle of the first amendment We should be chasing each other from cover to cover Protestants organized against Catholics Gentile against Jewes whites against blacks native born against foreign-born just as they did in the bloodiest ages of Europe's sad history of intolerance if it were not for our devotion to the principle of live and let live of equal privileges and equal rights and equal enjoyments for all citizens And if that devotion were to fade and die if the fires of hate and suspicion and fear were to be lighted and grow to a conflagration the days of security and happiness and good will that all alike experience would be succeeded by days of horror and misery beyond the power of any mortal pen to describe

The democratic party is sprung from the great father of religious liberty in America Thomas Jefferson At a time when the fagots of intolerance are set blazing its national convention does well to emphasize the supreme importance of the great principle he established and to attest anew and unmistakably its unshaken devotion to it For the American people can be trusted not to go wrong on this or any other issue once it is squirely laid before them and they understand its meaning clearly Evils that flourish and multiply when left unnoticed in the dark curl up and die when dragged out into the sun light

PEACHES AND PERSIMMONS

Opportunity knocks but once It would make a darned poor political speaker

After a day in the sordid marts it is comforting to pray or go see Jackie Coogan

A visitor from Mars might think the Murder car one of our most popular makes

But how can any Frenchman be as calm and neutral as they expect their president to be"

How comforting after being shot to know it was a dry agent and not a highwayman

Out in the great open spaces you can at least get victuals that don't need mayonnaise dressing

The country is getting so prosperous that any little one horse bank can interest a bandit

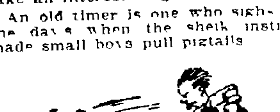

As a rule some general sweeps the political field after our wars but this time it is general apathy

A democracy is a land in which you get rich and then pretend you have ancestors to be proud of

Well the Japs were given a fair trial in this country and they just wouldn't enthuse about baseball

There's one good thing about political bosses They take time to take an interest in government

An old timer is one who sighs for the days when the sheik instinct made small boys pull pigtails

It is estimated that 89 per cent of the men who borrow books have children who enjoy throwing books at things

Perhaps it would be fairest to let the blocs take regular annual turns at cleaning the treasury

Think of the agonizing suspense the poor things endure while waiting to see how it will look when bobbed

Our national culture seems to develop rapidly by providing more and more places where you can smoke

Boyhood Home of Cleveland for Sale First Time Since Erected

SYRACUSE N Y July 16 The boyhood home of the late President Grover Cleveland in Fayetteville a gray rambling building to a house which has weathered 100 years is on sale today for the first time since the day it was built

It was the slender looking house with small several windows looking like eyes through the trees ... the boy who was to be twice president came to live when just a tot ... small room on the second floor ... eaves who knows what the boy Grover Cleveland dreamt as with misty look on lap and chin in hand he gazed out of that window over Fayetteville

Grover Cleveland's father the Rev Richard F Cleveland was a pastor in Fayetteville from ... until 1850

During the nine years the Fayetteville knew him and the ... children Grover became a student of Miss Eliza Cole in the ... schoolhouse across the way The Presbyterian church was on the corner of Main street and ... street and the gray old house which is now for sale was the parsonage

When the Rev Cleveland left Fayetteville the house in which the Cleveland family had lived passed into the hands of William Thompson and has remained in possession of the Thompson family to this day

The house has not been repaired for some time The posts at the foot of the old fashioned stairs that lead to the door have fallen partly away But they are the same banisters which the small hands of the boy Grover clasped as he hurried up and down the stairs so many years ago One side of the house is covered ... green leaves from roof to base There is a sort of cellar studio entered by a door in the front of the house which Rev Cleveland used for a study and where Grover used to patter down to read his history book or maybe it was Grimm's tales

Awake awake the morn will never rise

The ploughman from the sun his season takes
But still the lover wonders what they are

Awake awake break through your veils of lawn

Taxes and Dividends

In the year 1923 the tax accruals against The North Western System amounted to $10,875,911.89.

This is $1,661,639 more than the total taxes of all Canadian railroads, exceeding them by 18%, notwithstanding the fact that the Canadian railroads have 38,813 miles of road against 10,067 of the North Western System Lines.

The tax accruals of the North Western System for 1923 were $6,046,345 more than the system had left for dividends and surplus out of its net railway operating income after deducting fixed interest charges.

After deducting fixed interest charges and taxes, The North Western System had left out of its net railway operating income, to apply for dividends $4,829,566 or 2.4% on the total outstanding stock.

The outstanding stock of The North Western System is equal to only $19,609 per mile of road owned.

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES.

In the serics of destructive forest fires, which are causing such heavy losses on the Pacific coast and in the Rocky mountain region, a new element enters. Practically all of the fires, which are the worst in recent years, have been started by lightning. The theory they were of incendiary origin has been fairly well exploded, although in one instance careless back-firing by volunteer fighters added to the seriousness of the situation.

For years the forestry service has been conducting a campaign among the people of this country to eliminate lumber losses resulting from fires started through carelessness of campers, tourists, trappers and hunters, and others passing through the timber tracts in the mountains and along the western coast. The south has very largely escaped the destructive fires in the large tracts of yellow pine for which that region is noted. But Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Colorado, Montana Nevada, and the Pacific coast each year suffer heavily from forest fires. Heretofore, carelessness has been the largest factor to combat. Innumerable forest fires have started from the smoldering coals of an unguarded camp fire. But apparently the forestry service's campaign has been fruitful. Human agencies cannot be held responsible for the serious situation now facing the lumber interests in five western states, the rangers report.

Climatic conditions are said to have been ideal for fires. The forest tracts on the Pacific coast, and on the western slopes of the Rockies are particularly dry. Lack of moisture during the winter and the early spring presaged trouble weeks ago.

In the Missouli national forest in Montana, 222 out of 280 fires starting this spring are directly traceable to lightning bolts, according to the forest rangers on guard. In the Clearwater National forest, 90 fires have been started by lightning.

That is a situation which baffles those men who are entrusted with the responsibility of protecting the national forests. There are no precautions which can be taken to prevent forest fires starting by lightning. In a large number of instances the forest rangers have been quick enough on the scene to prevent an extensive spread of the flames but that is the limit of their efforts. The heaviest losses came in isolated forest regions where the flames got such a start, and were driven through the dry forest by furious winds, which made it practically impossible to stop the fires until they had taken their full sweep. The principal consolation comes in the knowledge that this has been a most unusual year. The lightning has not hit probably any more often than in other seasons but the exceedingly dry conditions in the forests makes the danger of fires doubly acute.

Even to the people of the prairie states, there is something, which appeals strongly to the imagination in forest fires. The blaze, which caused such heavy loss in the Santa Barbara national forest, covered over a million acres of timber. For two days the fire was burning on a fifteen mile front, licking up everything before it and sending up vast clouds of smoke until the skies were darkened. In one county out of the seven affected, Siskisyou, there were fifteen distinct and separate fires raging, each calling for an army of volunteer fighters.

A continuance of the situation a week longer will make the timber loss the most serious America has faced in the last decade. With lumber gradually becoming more difficult to obtain each year, these forest fires are as unwelcome and as costly as they are spectacular.

LINCOLN RANKS HIGH.

In the latest tabulation of statistics relating to the infant mortality rate, Lincoln takes first place among Nebraska cities as a healthy place to raise children, and is well up toward the top in the compilations of the entire nation.

The report places Lincoln's infant death rate at 54, which means that 54 children out of every 1,000 born during the year, died within their first year.

Omaha ranked second in 1923, with a rate of 67; Hastings came third with 89 and North Platte fifth with 96. The state average for these five cities is 67, which places Nebraska fifth in the list of thirty states and the district of Columbia.

Nearly 600 American cities, of more than 10,000 population, the represented in the report. Santa Cruz, Calif., and Winchester, Mass., with a rate of 26, stand highest in matter of infant mortality among all American cities. Spokane, with a rate of 48, takes first place among cities of over 100,000 population. In fact all of the Pacific coast states take a remarkably high rating. In the cities of from 50,000 to 100,000 population, the classification in which Lincoln falls, the average rate is 79.3 so that this city is far above the average.

Lincoln's fame as a desirable residence city is spreading. The beauty of her residence sections, and her business district, her unexcelled educational opportunities, her freedom from crime, and her healthful conditions are each year attracting increasing numbers of people.

NO RESTRICTION ON VOTERS' RIGHTS.

It is not likely that Robert M. La Follette will be able to muster sufficient support in Nebraska to carry the state at the coming election, as a candidate for president, against Davis and Coolidge. His record in the world war and the feeling that he is not a safe man to entrust with the control of governmental affairs at Washington will count heavily against him in the minds of men and women who do their own thinking.

But, regardless of whether or not La Follette has a chance to win Nebraska's electoral votes, there ought to be no question about placing his name upon the ballot and giving his supporters the same opportunity as other voters have to indicate their choice for the presidential office. The denial of this right, based on legal quibbling of any sort, would be contrary to the American spirit of fair play as well as a dangerous precedent in the way of hampering free elections.

There may be no specific statutory provisions that exactly fit the situation presented by La Follette's candidacy, but common sense dictates that the intent of the law be carried out by applying its provisions according to a broad and liberal interpretation. The United States government and that of the state of Nebraska are founded upon a free expression of the citizens in the choosing of public officials, and election laws are merely the machinery for giving the people the opportunity to elect those whom they desire to have charge of administering the government.

Manifestly, it would not be in harmony with this principle if a large section of the electorate were deprived of the chance to vote for the man of its choice by applying technical portions of the law in such a way as to shut out one of the prominent candidates for president. Those who may be for La Follette are as much entitled to vote that way, and have their votes counted, as are those who prefer Davis or Coolidge.

Some of the hair-splitting lawyers have been going through the statutes and announcing that they find no legal way for placing the Wisconsin senator's name on the ballot by petition. They insist that if it is put on at all it must be as the candidate of some political third party. Possibly this is the correct interpretation. If so, the backers of La Follette can call a convention and go through the required process of forming a new party. Thus their rights will be preserved.

It would seem, however, that if a candidate for president prefers to run without any party designation, simply "by petition," he should have that right. An aspirant for governor, United States senator, congressman, or any state or local office may do so, and there appears to be no good reason for erecting a special barrier against presidential candidates.

The technical lawyers think that even if La Follette's name should go upon the ballot for president, there is no way in which electors pledged to vote for him could be officially nominated at this late date. They claim that the time for naming electors was at the party state conventions held last May. Without an electoral ticket it is contended that even though La Follette should carry Nebraska in the popular vote at the November election the verdict of the people could not be made effective.

That is a specious argument scarcely worthy of consideration. If a convention were called to form a new party and nominate a candidate for president, the same convention, without doubt, would have the right to nominate presidential electors also.

In 1912, when Roosevelt was nominated for president by the "bull moose" national convention at Chicago in the month of August, the new party was given a place for its presidential electors on the November election ballot in Nebraska, and they polled over 72,000 votes. The only important change in the law since then is that now the people vote direct for presidential candidates, and the governor appoints the electors after the people have indicated by majority vote which man they want.

Surely, with such a precedent to go by, and from every consideration of fairness, the public officials who have charge of making up the ballot will not attempt to shut out one of the leading presidential candidates and disfranchise his supporters. The people of Nebraska will never approve any attempt to conduct elections by Mexican or South Amrelcan methods.

A TEST FOR THE CARRIERS.

With the wheat harvest well under way in Nebraska the railroads operating in this state will get their first test since millions were expended under the big programs of 1922-23, for new equipment.

Nebraska harvested a short crop a year ago and prices were generally so unsatisfactory that farmers delayed hauling their grain to market except when immediate sale was necessary. Conditions are vastly different this year. The preliminary reports that have drifted in from counties in the southern part of the state, where threshing has been completed, indicate the crop is turning out much better than was expected. The average yield is considerably over the normal. In 1923, Nebraska raised 31,388,000 bushels of wheat, according to the final estimate of the federal bureau of crop estimates. The preliminary survey for 1924 indicated a crop of 48,287,000 bushels, or an increase of 65 per cent.

Not only is the 1924 crop very considerably larger than the yield in 1923, but market conditions have radically changed. Wheat has been booming skyward in the last few days, in view of extensive damage to the Canadian crop as a result of drouth, and depleted reserve stores. As a result of the higher prices, some of the new wheat is already moving to market, and a number of the elevators in the smaller towns of the state are anticipating exceptionally heavy shipments in the next three weeks. While the price may go higher, the present market is sufficiently attractive to the farmer to induce him to take advantage of the opportunity to sell his crop.

With more satisfactory prices than have prevailed, it would be most unfortunate if the farmer could not avail himself of them because of a car shortage. The carriers claim to have sufficient equipment to handle the crop, and their claims apparently have a substantial foundation. There was no difficulty experienced a year ago in getting all the cars desired. Railroad traffic has been stagnant now for several weeks. Shops have closed, and forces have been cut down for lack of business. The movement of grain to the primary market, under the conditions which prevail today, will have a most beneficial result. The farmer will receive better prices for his wheat while the shipments of grain will provide work for hundreds of railroad men, who have been temporarily out of employment, because of the slackness of business.

Evidence each day points to a vast improvement in conditions throughout the entire agricultural section, and more particularly in Nebraska. If the carriers are able to handle the crop without delay, this state is certain to reflect the change.

And properly meseems;
The silken scarf across my breast
Is woven of their dreams.

"I search for solace, but I fail
To find it anywhere;
A ewe in some far-distant vale
Bemoans the kids I wear.
The eggs I ate this morning might
Have learned in time to peep
If I had curbed my appetite,
Whose gnawing was so deep.

"Sweet blossoms add to my dismay,
For I have done them ill;
They might, If I had spared them, sway
As fruit on some far hill;
But I will sing or I will try,
Let mirth my song bedeck—"
Then came a wasp—I don't know why—
And stung her on the neck.

A BIT OF HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

HAVING MADE FULL USE OF YOUR TALENT, YOU HAVE NOTHING TO REGRET.

If you have really tried, do not be discouraged because another has made a greater success than you in the world.

If you have made full use of your talents, you have done as much as the other fellow, who is more gifted.

Yet, it is more likely that you have not done your best.

And now you are excusing yourself for your neglect when the matter was hard and disagreeable.

Very often you enter enthusiastically into certain projects, but it becomes harder and harder to work as your interest wanes.

Indeed, you can look back on some of your failures and realize that a little more perseverance, a little more self-denial and study would have won a certain degree of success.

Perhaps you are one of the many who cannot stand competition.

And this trait was apparent in you as a youngster, in the days when you were in athletic contests—you went well in the lead, but you lost heart when the contestant passed you.

Is this true of you now?

Cancer Cures Are Discredited.

Hope sprang up in the hearts of thousands when newspapers announced recently that two cures for cancer had been found. These hopes were quickly dashed by statements issued under the authority of the American Medical association. Editorially the association Journal said:

"In the early part of 1921 a special committee appointed by the council of the Academy of Medicine of Toronto was unable to find any evidence to show that the serum (of Dr. T. J. Glover of Toronto) had produced a cure in any case definitely established as cancer. About the same time Dr. Francis Carter Wood, director of cancer research at Columbia university, reported that he had found no evidence that the product had any effect on the growth of tumors.

The second 'cancer cure' exploited was that of Dr. William F. Koch of DetroitDetroit. Koch's nostrum was brought to public attention in a statement made before 'The American Association for the Study and Cure of Cancer,' a newly formed organization that must not be confused with the well established American Society for the Control of Cancer. The committee appointed by the medical society made two reports, both unfavorable to the 'cure.'

"So far as the 'cures' of William F. Koch and T. J. Glover are concerned, it cannot be too earnestly asserted that neither one is in any sense established as either scientific or reliable."

When a cure for cancer comes, it will be welcomed by the medical profession just as insulin (for diabetes), toxin-anti-toxin (the diphtheria preventitive), and the new scarlet fever serum, have been welcomed and put to use.

Until that day comes, reliance for cancer cures must be place solely on early diagnosis and surgery.

Questions and Answers.

Your questions on health topics will be answered by Dr. Dorothy Bocker if you address her in care of this newspaper.

The First Amendment.

(Omaha World Herald.)

It was a blind man, a distinguished citizen of Iowa, M. F. Healy of Fort Dodge, who said, impressively, to the democratic national convention:

"The noblest spectacle of human history was the spectacle of our fathers engaged in government building. They knew the long, sad story of the past and the first amendment to the constitution they put in living letters of fire, the guarantees that mean more to the American people than all other clauses combined."

The speaker, described in the dispatches as "a man of kingly presence and dignified bearing" with a voice deep and finely modulated, then proceeded to quote the first amendment:

"Congress shall make no law looking toward the establishment of religion, nor preventing the free exercise thereof, or abridging or denying the right of free speech and a free press, or denying the right of peaceable assemblage to petition for redress or grievances."

A great many people may have wondered why the convention devoted so much time and eloquence and deep feeling to determine in just phrasing it should reaffirm its devotion to that provision of the constitution. Some have been impatient, disgusted, because the democratic party turned from such issues as tariff and taxes and currency and railroads and foreign policy to denounce the evil of religious and racial intolerance, brought into new life by the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan.

But the reason was truly stated by the great Iowa leader, who, blind to material objects, rejoices in a keener vision of spiritual and ristorical truth. The guarantees of the first amendment do, indeed, mean more to the American people than any others to be found in the constitution. Mr. Healy tells why:

"The men who wrote that knew how, in the early days the Christians went down into the catacombs to worship God according to the dictates of their consciences. They knew the history of the persecutions of the first three hundred years under Roman emperors.

"They knew the centuries of conflict between Christians and Moslems. They knew every shot where men and women have died for conscience sake; the sad, sad story of Italy and Spain, France, the Rhine provinces of Germany, the Thirty Years war, fought because of religious differences. They knew the meaning of the battle field of Luetzen, where Gustav Adolph and Pappenheim received their death wounds. They knew the story of the fagot fires of England and Scotland, where each side burned the other in the name of God. They had heard the story of the little village in Ireland where stil lat nightfall little children seem to hear the eschoes of the shrieks of three hundred women and chidren butchered fy a fanatical army.

"They knew full well the story of the greatest scene of all, the scene where the sun darkened, and the earth shook and the graves opened and and gave up their dead, and the dying Savior on the cross called out, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do."

"I speak here for myself, as a member of the Iowa delegation, but I want to put into articulafe form the yearnings and the demands from every voting precinct in the United States, that this great provision of our constitution applies today as the day it was written."

That is worth thinking about, at a time when deluded men are scurrying over the country organizing secret political societies based on racial and religious intolerence.

There is just one reason why, in these United States, we are not fighting, murdering, burning one another for opinion's sake. It is because we have believed in and practiced the tolerant principle of the first amendment. We should be chasing each other from cover to cover. Protestants organized against Catholics, Gentile against Jewes, whites against blacks, native-born against foreign-born, just as they did in the bloodiest ages of Europe's sad history of intolerance, if it were not for our devotion to the principle of live and let live, of equal privileges and equal rights and equal enjoyments for all citizens. And if that devotion were to fade and die, if the fires of hate and suspicion and fear were to be lighted and grow to a conflagration, the days of security and happiness and good will that all alike experience would be succeeded by days of horror and misery beyond the power of any mortal pen to describe.

The democratic party is sprung from the great father of religious liberty in America, Thomas Jefferson. At a time when the fagots of intolerance are set blazing, its national convention does well to emphasize the supreme importance of the great principle he established and to attest anew and unmistakably its unshaken devotion to it. For the American people can be trusted not to go wrong on this or any other issue once it is squirely laid before them and they understand its meaning clearly. Evils that flourish and multiply when left unnoticed in the dark, curl up and die when dragged out into the sunlight.

PEACHES AND PERSIMMONS

Opportunity knocks but once. It would make a darned poor political speaker.

A dawn-to-dusk flier sees a lot of country, but he misses the bootleggers.

After a day in the cordid marts it is comforting to pray or go see Jackie Coogan.

A visitor from Mars might think the Murder car one of our most popular makes.

But how can any Frenchman be as calm and neutral as they expect their president to be?

How comforting, after being shot, to know it was a dry agent and not a highwayman.

Out in the great open spaces you can at least get victuals that don't need mayonnaise dressing.

The country is getting so prosperous that any little one-horse bank can interest a bandit.

As a rule some general sweeps the political field after our wars, but this time it is general apathy.

A democracy is a land in which you get rich and then pretend you have ancestors to be proud of.

Well, the Japs were given a fair trial in this country, and they just wouldn't enthuse about baseball.

There's one good thing about political bosses. They take time to take an interest in government.

An old-timer is one who sighs for the day's when the sheik instinct made small boys pull pigtails.

It is estimated that 89 per cent of the men who borrow books have children who enjoy throwing books at things.

Perhaps it would be fairest to let the blocs take regular annual turns at cleaning the treasury.

Think of the agonizing suspens, the poor things endure while waiting to see how it will look when bobbed.

Our national culture seems to develop rapidly by providing more and more places where you can smoke.

By doing without things you want you can save enough to buy finer things when you grow old and no longer care for them.

Boyhood Home of Cleveland for Sale First Time Since Erected

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 16—The boyhood home of the late President Grover Cleveland, in Fayetteville, a gray, rain and wind-torn house which has weathered 100 years, is on sale today for the first time since the day it was built.

It was the slender-looking house, with small second-story windows, looking like half-closed eyes through the trees, that the boy who was to be twice president came to live when just a tot. In a small room on the second floor, under the eaves, who knows what dreams Grover Cleveland dreamt as, with history book on lap and chin in hand, he gazed out of that window over Fayetteville.

Grover Cleveland's father, the Rev. Richard F. Cleveland, was a pastor in Fayetteville from 1841 until 1850. During the nine years that Fayetteville knew him and the Cleveland children, Grover became a student of Miss Eliza Cole in the little red schoolhouse across the way. The Presbyterian church was on the corner of Main street and Academy street, and the gray old house which is now for sale was the parsonage.

When the Rev. Cleveland left Fayetteville the house in which the Cleveland family had made its home, passed into the hands of William P. Thompson and has remained a possession of the Thompson family to this day.

The house has not been repaired for some time. The posts at the foot of the old-fashioned stairs that lead to the door have fallen partly away. But they are the same banisters which the small hands of the boy Grover clasped as he hurried up and down the stairs, so many years ago. One side of the house is completely covered with ivy, large flat green leaves, from roof to base. There is a sort of cellar-studio, entered by a door in the front of the house, which Rev. Cleveland used for a study and where Grover used to patter down to read his history book, or maybe it was Grimm's tales.

Poems That Live

MORNING.

The lark now leaves his watery nest,
And climbing shakes his dewy wings,
He takes your window for the east,
And to implore your light, he sings;
Awake, awake, the morn will never rise
'Till she can dress her beauty at your eyes.

The merchant bows unto the seaman's star,
The ploughman from the sun his season takes;
But still the lover wonders what they are,
Who look for day before his mistress wakes;
Awake, awake, break through your veils of lawn!
Then draw your curtain and begin the dawn

Sugar Coated Cod Liver Oil Tablets For Thin People

Forget the horrible tasting Cod Liver Oil and give the thin, puny, undeveloped children McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets if you want to give them a good appetite and put pounds of good healthy flesh on their bones.

Doctors know all about them and so does Harley Drug Co., Piller's Pharmacy, Terminal Drug Co., and all good druggists, for they are in great demand, because they are not laggards but show results in a few days.

They are not expensive either—60 tablets 60 cents, and children take them like candy.

America Leads World In Beauty Of Its Scenery

It was Mark Hopkins who once said "I never see a locomotive without wanting to take off my hat to it." It can be just as properly said of America's scenic wonders I never see any of America's beautiful scenery without wanting to take off my hat to it For this reason Americans should "See America First" for there is no place in the world where the beauties of God's handiwork are as wonderful as on the North American continent

Most people do not fully realize that scenic wonders unequalled elsewhere on earth are to be found at home They have become so commonplace that they have been taken as a matter of course just as it is customary to take every common place thing for granted

Not the least important feature connected with the scenic splendors of the western hemisphere are the railroads Especially is this true of the transcontinental lines which have threaded their way through the valleys and over the mountains of the east across the plains states to again cut their way like a great white ribbon below towering white-capped peaks of the western ranges and thence to the waters of the Pacific shimmering under the rays of a fast lowering summer's sun

One is amazed at the vast amount of sightseeing that can be done from the window of a rapidly moving passenger car—but still more is he amazed that it has been made accessible The railroad tells the story

A place in mind is the Royal Gorge Here is a scenic wonder that is reached as a climax to one of the most wonderful train journeys in America Approaching the Gorge the passenger sees mountains gray green red and some are white and others blue At times it is impossible to tell where the mountains stop and the clouds begin Some are bare and scraggy and others are snow capped [illegible] and verdure [illegible]

The Royal Gorge is a giant chasm in the heart of the mountains cut from lofty peaks down to the very bottom of [illegible] Salt Lake City and Denver Yet this famed scenic marvel [illegible] along with one of the world's greatest feats of engineering skill About a dozen miles [illegible] to the chasm leading to the Gorge As the train goes further and further into the chasm the narrower it becomes and higher and higher the walls until at the center the Gorge itself the way is only thirty feet [illegible] feet above the railroad track At this point there is not sufficient room for the railroad bed and the stream which runs alongside hence a hanging bridge suspended parallel with the stream by immense steel supports buried in the solid granite walls on either side And this has made possible a dozen miles of scenic splendor which beggars description At the hanging bridge rugged rock cliffs enclosing the river and the track rise so abruptly into the sky for half a mile that they shut out the [illegible] The [illegible] to the left digging [illegible] The vista ahead momentarily closed opens again and in some unexpected manner at a time when the sightseer is getting ready to jump fearing a crash into the solid walls ahead a curve is rounded and a way out is eventually found while you marvel not only at the grandeur of the scenery but at the engineering skill and the nerve and endurance of the men who made possible a sight of the things left behind

The Royal Gorge is but one of the thousands of scenic wonders of America which the railroads of the nation have made accessible to America's people And they have also brought within reach of man the [illegible] which the tired and weary business man may go for quiet and rest after a strenuous winter and [illegible] in the office or shop Here too the [illegible] vacation may also find [illegible] after a hard season

America Leads World In Beauty Of Its Scenery

It was Mark Hopkins who once said: "I never see a locomotive without wanting to take off my hat to it." It can be just as properly said of America's scenic wonders: "I never see any of America's beautiful scenery without wanting to take off my hat to it." For this reason Americans should "See America First," for there is no place in the world where the beauties of God's handiwork are as wonderful as on the North American continent

Most people do not fully realize that scenic wonders unequalled elsewhere on earth are to be found at home. They have become so commonplace that they have been taken as a matter of course, just as it is customary to take every commonplace thing for granted.

Not the least important feature connected with the scenic splendors of the western hemisphere are the railroads. Especially is this true of the transcontinental lines which have threaded their way through the valleys and over the mountains of the east, across the plains states to again cut their way like a great white ribbon below towering white-capped peaks of the western ranges and thence to the waters of the Pacific shimmering under the rays of a fast lowering summer's sun.

One is amazed at the vast amount of sightseeing that can be done from the window of a rapidly moving passenger car—but, still more is he amazed that it has been made accessible. The railroad tells the story.

A place in mind is the Royal Gorge. Here is a scenic wonder that is reached as a climax to one of the most wonderful train journeys in America. Approaching the Gorge the passenger sees mountains, gray, green, red and some are white and others blue. At times it is impossible to tell where the mountains stop and the clouds begin, some are bare and scraggy, and others are snow-capped or tree and verdure clad alternately.

The Royal Gorge is a giant chasm in the heart of the mountains, cut from lofty peaks down to the very bottom of nature. Between Salt Lake City and Denver lies this famed scenic marvel along with one of the world's greatest feats of engineering skill. About a dozen miles there are to the chasm leading to the Gorge. As the train goes forther and farther into the chasm the norrower it becomes, and higher and higher the walls, until at the center, the Gorge itself, the way is only thirty feet wide, while the massive walls rise 2,625 feet above the railroad track. At this point there is not sufficient room for the road bed and the stream which runs along side; hence, a hanging bridge suspended parallel with the stream by immense steel supports buried in the solid granite walls on either side. And this has made possible a dozen miles of scenic splendor which beggars description. At the hanging bridge rugged, rock cliffs, enclosing the river and the track, rise so abruptly into the sky for half a mile that they shout out the day and cause stars to shine even while the sun is high in the heaven. The river boils madly through. The engine of the train swings now to the right, now to the left, dragging the long string of coaches. The vista ahead, momentarily closed, opens again, and in some unexpected manner, at a time when the sightseer is getting ready to jupmp fearing a crash into the solid walls ahead, a curve is rounded and a way out is eventually found, while you marvel, not only at the grandeur of the scenery, but at the engineering skill and the nerve and endurance of the men who made possible a sight of the things left behind.

The Royal Gorge is but one of the thousands of scenic wonders of America which the railroads of the nation have made accessible to America's people. And they have also brought within reach of man the thousands of vacations resorts to which the tired and weary business man may go for quiet and rest after a strenuous winter and spring in the office or shop. Here too, the society matron may also find rest after a hard season.

Literature telling about the Gorge, and any of the best resorts of the nations is available at the Lincoln Star Travel and Resort bureau. It is free for the asking. Out of town requests should be accompanied with 4 cents in stamps to cover cost of postage. Address the Travel and Resort bureau, Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb.

YANKEES CLEAN UP IN OLYMPIC BOUTS

Straight Run of Victories By American Fighters In Paris Compet.

Glove-Wielders From Other Nations Soft and Easy For Americans.

BY SPIKE WEBB
American Boxing Coach

Tripp II the Yonkers boxer defeated Nsaveaga the scrappy Chilean

Jo Salas outboxed Burle the Canadian scoring a technical knockout in the third

Jackie Fields met a tough Irishman in Doyle but beat him all the way scoring a knockdown in the first round Jack hurt both his hands in this fight which may affect his chances today

Al Mello of Massachusetts defeated Doussot regarded by most Europeans as unbeatable

The referee does not enter the ring as in America but sits at the ring side fifteen or twenty feet away and it is difficult for the boxers to hear his commands

U S Swimmers Winning

PARIS July 16—Two American swimmers went into the semi finals of the 100-metre backstroke event in the Olympic contests today and a third won his heat but was disqualified

In the elimination heats for the 200 metre breast stroke for women Miss Baron of Holland who finished first was disqualified for a bad touch at the other end of the tank and first place was given to Agnes Geraghty of New York

Yanks Good In All Branches

PARIS July 16—Now that the fields are narrowing down in all branches of the Olympic championships competition promises to be keener today with the Americans all set to carry a determined battle to their rivals in at least three sports—tennis swimming and boxing

Having qualified the last of their five entries yesterday when the Yale crew scored easy victories in trials for tomorrow's finals the United States oarsmen will have a day of rest Other American contests however will have an exceedingly busy schedule

Miss Helen Wills American woman tennis champion demonstrated by eliminating Mrs Satterthwaite of England in the singles yesterday that she will make a strong bid for the Olympic title The California girl is among the three American women remaining in the list of sixteen in the championship contests

Americans Still in Running

American men remaining are R Norris Williams Watson M Washburn and Vincent Richards The latter has a stiff match today meeting Manuel Alonso the Spanish champion

Francis T Hunter who was put out of the running yesterday by Jean Washer the Belgium star has not recovered from his recent arm mishap and it was probably due to his physical discomfort that he met defeat Hunter however remains in the doubles with Richards along with Williams and Washburn among the men while Miss Wills and Mrs George Wightman are the sole surviving women's pair They will encounter familiar rivals today in the Norwegian players Mrs Molla B Mallory and Mrs Dahl

Today Johnny Weissmuller holder of some fifty odd world's swimming records and whose renown in France is a champion natator equals that of Charley Paddock as a sprinter makes his debut at the Les Tourelles pool in the Olympic competition

TRIBE KNOCKS OFF LINKS IN OPENER

Indians Scalped Home Gang, 12 to 7, In First Game Of Local Series.

Grover Weakened In Fifth Frame After Sprint In Previous Inning.

Oklahoma City at Lincoln clear
Wichita at Des Moines (2) clear
St Joseph at Denver clear
Tulsa at Omaha clear

BY "CY" SHERMAN

Our Links failed to function quite up to snuff yesterday and took a cuffing over the ears 12 to 7 in the introductory engagement of the series with the Oklahoma City Indians

Manager Josh's athletes once were in front 5 to 3 and the situation had victorious aspects but the usually reliable Bert Bugs Grover suddenly flew off at a tangent the Indians riding through with five markers in the fifth frame—a disaster which cooked the home gang's goose

The contest—if such might be termed in view of the 12 to 7 margin in the Indians favor—featured extra base hitting The Luderus tribe smacked Bert Bugs and the youthful Mr Hanna for 15 blows the Oklahoma City onslaught including a home run and seven two baggers while the Links contributed two homers a three sacker and three doubles assembling 14 credit marks for their hit column

Tony Does His Stuff

Antonio Lazerri late of the Salt Lake Mormons was decorated with Lincoln duds and made his getaway in stunning style The ex Coast leaguer clouted a single a triple and a homer in four trips to the plate

Performing at the third sack while Scotty McDonald viewed the encounter from the bench Antonio handled his three fielding chances without a miss executing a dazzling one hand pick up of Hock's hunt and shotgun heave to the first corner for a putout

Antonio's spectacular start brought joy to the bugs while Manager Josh although a bit sour over the defeat did considerable chuckling over his good fortune in adding Lazerri to the Lincoln lineup

The Indians hopped Bert Bugs in the opening round Hock singled Menze doubled and Felber cleaned up with a wallop which soared over the fence in right center Bugs suddenly steadied and had the savages eating out of his right paw until the storm broke in the fifth when the Comanches clustered five hits three free passes and a sacrifice fly scoring five markers Subsequent scoring of four tallies by the Indians was inconsequential—Chief Luderus and his tribe already had the ball game in their sack

Cooper Out of Position

Pitcher Cooper was treading the clover in left replacing the injured Coleman who is out of the game with a severe muscle bruise As an outfielder it was painfully apparent that Cooper was miles and miles out of position He misjudged three fly balls that a more experienced gardener would have stuck in his pocket

But the defeat should not be charged up to the Links substitute left fielder As a matter of fact the break came in the fifth after Bert Bugs scored a run for the home gang in the fourth Bugs was perched on second by virtue of a clean poke and Moore's infield bouncer to McNally Cooper then clouted to center and Bugs fairly ran his legs off in beating Hock's heave to the plate and scoring his run

Putting a pitcher on the paths and forcing him to over exert in getting around the bases generally brings disaster It usually works that way—it certainly did yesterday for Bert Bugs didn't have a thing but pertinacity when he essayed to hurl to the Indians in the succeeding round With five blows three walks and a sacrifice fly the savages swarmed in with five runs and the stuff was off right there

Links Punished Buckshot

The Links had the satisfaction of pounding Buckshot May off the mound Buckshot beat the Omaha club a few days ago so the achievement of the Links really amounted to something Snake Allen superseded Buckshot the limber jointed gent going through to the finish and taking credit for the victory The Links cuffed Allen for five hits and two runs during the five innings in which he toiled

Chili McDaniel greeted Allen with a ponderous wallop which cleared the right field pickets but nobody was on when Chili connected for his circuit trip Incidentally it was the fourth successive McDaniel homer in as many ball games at Landis yard

Third and final fray of the Oklahoma City series is carded for Thursday afternoon following which the fourth place St Joseph Saints will be with us during three days at the local orchard Tuesday's official record

Tri State Future Gloomy

OMAHA Neb July 16 The future of the Tri State baseball league rests on the outcome of a meeting today at Sioux City of Richard Grotte league president C J Hulac Norfolk and Robert Warner Sioux Falls with business men of the Iowa city when the possibility of Sioux City retaining the league berth vacated Monday by George Segrist manager is taken up

Grotte and the other two who are directors of the loop announced last night before leaving here after a meeting at which the league's future was discussed that unless the franchise is kept in Sioux City the league may have to disband without finishing the season

Aberdeen S D was virtually rejected as a future home for the Sioux City club because of the distance from other league cities Grotte indicated

Deserves Its Bad Luck

No malice is involved when the facts are proclaimed that the Tri State loop deserves its present misfortunes The league did not start with clean hands Reorganized last winter as successor to the Nebraska State league its first move was to pull an act of baseball piracy Owners of the Lincoln State league club Beltzer brothers and Charles N Moon were all square with the league they had paid all obligations and league dues and were ready and anxious to transfer their team to Sioux Falls or some other available city taking membership in the new organization Without a suggestion of justification or shadow of excuse the new league declared the Beltzer Moon franchise and team forfeited making a present of the Lincoln men's property rights to Sioux Falls Piracy of that sort deserved punishment in some form or other and it appears that the punishment has come

Purdy and Walters

Acquisition by the Links of Pid Purdy leading swatsman in the Tri State loop hinges on the outcome of the league's efforts to keep the club going in Sioux City Refusal of Sioux City business interests to co operate with President Grotte and his associates would break up the circuit and automatically release all players making them free agents Purdy is anxious to get back to Lincoln as a switch would give the Beatrice boy his chance to perform in faster company

Pitcher Walters of Hastings club hurling phenom of the Tri State the pitcher who beat the Chicago Cubs in a spring game at Los Angeles also has declared his intention to join the Links in event the Grotte league takes the count

Verne Comes Home

Verne Lewellen former University of Nebraska pitcher has returned to his Lincoln home from a month's sojourn with the Pittsburgh club of the National league Verne cultivated an attack of shoulder soreness and was permitted to come home for a rest He is still under control to the Pirates and may return to Pittsburgh during August Meantime he plans to play an occasional ball game in local amateur circles

Larry Grabs Pitcher File

Wire news from Los Angeles early this week in which it was proclaimed that Frank Isbell of the Wichita club had grabbed off Pitcher Mike File former Los Angeles flinger evidently was premature and altogether unreliable It was Larry Arnold boss of the Links not Isbell who hooked File's moniker to a contract Manager Josh Clarke announced today he had a wire from Arnold in which the Lincoln owner asserted that File would report to the Links Saturday of the present week

Lincoln Fans Like Chavvy.

Dazzling showing of Lazerri at the hot station in Tuesday's game and the flashy fielding of Chavez at short suggest that Manager Josh has hit on the combination for the far corner of the Lincoln infield Lazerri as a matter of course will make errors at third but his acquisition has added a lot to the hitting strength of the Links

As a fielder Chavez can go the pace with any shortstop of the Western circuit Inability of Chavez to hit as well as he fields possibly is psychological It has been dinned into the ears of the Portuguese youngster that he can't hit and he goes to bat lacking confidence The writer lugs the hunch that Chavvy could hit if he were to get over the erroneous idea that the pitchers have something on him Chavvy is popular with patrons of the pastime in the camp of the Links His sincerity and fielding style have made a hit with Lincoln fans

Straight Run of Victories By American Fighters In Paris Compet.

Glove-Wielders From Other Nations Soft and Easy For Americans.

BY SPIKE WEBB.
American Boxing Coach.

PARIS, July 16.—Seven victories in seven starts was a good way to start the opening day for the American boxers.

Fidel La Barbe, the Los Angeles boxer, gave the team a good start by decivisely defeating Warwick, the British Isles champion, who had been heavily backed by his countrymen.

Tripoli, the Yonkers boxer, defeated Nsaveaga, the scrappy Chilean.

Jo Salas outboxed Burie, the Canadian, scoring a technical knockout in the third.

Jackie Fiels met a tough Irishman in Doyle, but beat him all the way, scoring a knockdown in the first round. Jack hurt both his hands in this fight which may affect his chances today.

Hugh Haggerty justified all that was said about his punching power by knocking Switenk, a good Pole, out in the first round.

Al Mello of Massachusetts defeated Doussot, regarded by most Europeans as unbeatable.

Ben Funk punched his way to victory over Jones, the Australian, after Funk had hurt his right hand and Jones had floored him for a short count with a sweeping body blow.

Both Kirby and Mulholland drew byes in the 175-pound class and will not fight until Friday.

Yank Kayoes Irishman.

PARIS, July 16.—American boxers started out auspiciously today when Ben Rothwell, 135-pound champion of the Pastime A. C. New York, knocked out Kelleher, his Irish opponent, in the second round.

The fight was fast and furious. The boys slugged each other until Kelleher knocked down Rothwell. The latter was on his feet immediately and proceeded to put Kelleher down for the count.

Jack Fields of Los Angeles won his match today in the 126-pound class, defeating Hanson of Norway on points.

Lemonton, France, defeated Pastor-Gatalan, Spain, on points.

Joe Salas, the Los Angeles featherweight, today defeated Levis of Holand on points.

Cornell Boxed Disqualified.

Joe Lazarus, the 118-pound boxer from Cornell university, N. Y., knocked out Andren of Sweden with a low body blow in the second round. He was disqualified and Andren declared the winner.

American boxing fans were indignant at the ruling, declaring that Lazarus was one of the cleanest fighters who has fought in the Olympics.

The referee does not enter the ring as in America, but sits at the ringside fifteen or twenty feet away, and it is difficult for the boxers to hear his commands.

U. S. Swimmers Winning.

PARIS, July 16.—Two American swimmers went into the semi-finals of the 100-metre backstroke event in the Olympic contests today and a third won his heat, but was disqualified.

In winning his heat Warren Kealoha of Honolulu made a new Olympic record, covering the distance in 1:13 4-5.

Paul Wyatt of Uniontown Y. M. C. A. won the third heat in 1:14. He and Kealoha will repdesent the United States in the semi-finals.

Henry Luning of Honolulu finished first in the second heat in 1:16 1-5, but was disqualified and first place awarded Bartha of Hungary.

Manager John Taylor this afternoon protested to the inter-swimming federation the disqualification of Luning. He pointed out that swimmers who yesterday "jumped the gun" in the breast stroke were recalled and permitted to start again.

In the elimination heats for the 200-metre breast stroke for women, Miss Baron of Holland, who finished first, was disqualified for a bad touch at the other end of the tank and first place was given to Agnes Geraghty of New York.

Yanks Good In All Branches.

PARIS, July 16.—Now that the fields are narrowing down in all branches of the Olympic championships, competition promises to be keener today, with the Americans all set to carry a determined battle to their rivals in at least three sports—tennis, swimming and boxing.

Having qualified the last of their five entries yesterday, when the Yale crew scored easy victories in trials for tomorrow's finals, the United States oarsmen will have a day of rest. Other American contests, however, will have an exceedingly busy schedule.

Miss Helen Wills, American woman tennis champion, demonstrated, by eliminating Mrs. Satterthwaite of England in the singles yesterday, that she will make a strong bid for the Olympic title. The California girl is among the three American women remaining in the list of sixteen in the championship contests.

Americans Still in Running.

American men remaining are R. Norris Williams, Watson M. Washburn and Vincent Richards. The latter has a stiff match today, meeting Manuel Alonso, the Spanish champion

Francis T. Hunter, who was put out of the running yesterday by Jean Washer, the Belgium star, has not yet recovered from his recent arm mishap and it was probably due to his physical discomfort that he met defeat. Hunter, however, remains in the doubles with Richards, along with Williams and Washburn among the men, while Miss Wills and Mrs. George Wightman are the sole surviving women's pair. They will encounter familiar rivals today in the Norwegian players, Mrs. Molla B. Mallory and Mrs. Dahl.

Today Johnny Weismuller, holder of some fifty odd world's swimming records and whose renown in France as a champion natator equals that of Charley Paddock as a sprinter, makes his debut at the Les Tourelles pool in the Olympic competition.

Athletes Head for London.

PARIS, July 16.—Eixty-two American Olympic athletes, managers, coaches rubbers, under the direction of Lawson Robertson, left today for London where they will participate in the United Kingdom games. The athletes will return to Paris Monday.

Sweden Extends Invitation.

STOCKHOLM, July 16.—A number of leading American stars of the Paris Olympic games will visit Sweden if negotiations now going on are successful, according to authoritative reports published here. The intention is to present exhibition performances and contests both in the Stockholm stadium and in the provinces.

PARIS, July 16.—The congress of the international amateur boxing federation after nominating officers last night for the Olympic bouts unanimously pronounced against the the proposal of the Norweigian-Swedish-Danish international boxing association that amateurs should be allowed the privilege of being indemnified for the loss of salary they might suffer through participation in the various games and the proposal was withdrawn.

Canadians vs. Yale.

AGENTEUIL, July 16.—The Canadian eight-oared crew today won the right to compete with Yale in the finals of the Olympic competition by winning the race of the crews which had finished second in the original heats.

MYRICK CRACKS DOWN ON FRENCH

Americans Will Pull Out of Olympic Tennis Unless Quarters Improved.

PARIS, July 16.—Julian S. Myrick, president of the American Lawn Tennis association, today served notice on the Olympic committee that he would withdraw the American team from the Olympic tennis competition unless the committee immediately provided the American players with "civilized facilities."

Myrick said the quarters and dressing rooms were "absolutely inconvenient, that no drinking water was supplied for the players, there were no shower baths,' and no towels."

The conditions are afecting the morale of the American players, Mayrick declared.

Molla Wins Match.

PARIS, July 16.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, playing for Norway in the Olympic tennis championships, advanced another step today in her ambition to meet Miss Helen Wills, California girl, who wrested the American championship from her last year, when she entered the fourth round by defeating Mrs. Bouman, of Holland, 9-7, 6-0.

Mrs. Mallory played better tennis than she has shown in recent tournaments and she has high hopes that both she and Miss Wills will go through to the finals in the women's singles.

The intense heat wave, which has prevailed since the opening of the matches, was broken today. The sky was clouded and there was a high wind which bothered the players. A small crowd was on hand.

Three Americans still survive in the American singles—Vinnie Richards, R. Norris Williams and Watson Washburn.

Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, United States, also entered the fourth round in the women's singles, when she easily defeated Senorita Torras of Spain, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0

Vincent Richards, the Yonkers "boy wonder," advanced another step in the men's singles when he defeated Manuel Alonso of Spain, in three of four sets, 7-5, 10-8, 2-6, 6-3.

TRIBE KNOCKS OFF LINKS IN OPENER

Indians Scalped Home Gang, 12 to 7, In First Game Of Local Series.

Grover Weakened In Fifth Frame After Sprint In Previous Inning.

Oklahoma City at Lincoln; clear.
Wichita at Des Moines (2); clear.
St. Joseph at Denver; clear.
Tulsa at Omaha; clear.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Our Links failed to function quite up to snuff yesterday and took a cuffing over the ears, 12 to 7, in the introductory engagement of the series with the Oklahoma City Indians.

Manager Josh's athletes cnce were in front, 5 to 3, and the situation had victorious aspects but the usually reliable Bert Bugs Grover suddenly flew off at a tangent, the Indians riding through with five markers in the fifth frame—a disaster which cooked the home gang's goose.

The contest—if such it might be termed, in view of the 12 to 7 margin in the Indians' favor—featured extra-base hitting. The Luderus tribe smacked Bert Bugs and the youthful Mr. Hanna for 15 blows, the Oklahoma City onslaught including a home run and seven two-baggers, while the Links contributed two homers, a three-sacker and three doubles, assembling 14 credit marks for their hit column.

Tony Does His Stuff.

Antonio Lazerri, late of the Salt Lake Mormons, was decorated with Lincoln duds and made his getaway in stunning style. The ex-Coast leaguer clouted a single, a triple and a homer in four trips to the plate.

Performing at the third sack, while Scotty McDonald viewed the encounter from the bench. Antonio handled his three fielding chances without a miss, executing a dazzling one-hand pick-up of Hock's bunt and shotgun heave to the first corner for a putout.

Antonio's spectacular start brought joy to the bugs, while Manager Josh, although a bot sour over the defeat, did considerable chuckling over his good fortune in adding Lazerri to the Lincoln lineup.

The Indians hopped Bert Bugs in the opening round. Hock singled, Menze doubled and Felber cleaned up with a wallop which soared over the fence in right center. Bugs suddenly steadied and had the savages eating out of his right paw until the storm broke in the fifth, when the Comanches clustered five hits, three free passes and a sacrifice fly, scoring five markers. Subsequent scoring of four tallies by the Indians was inconsequential—Chief Luderus and his tribe already had the ball game in their sack.

Cooper Out of Position.

Pitcher Cooper was treading the clover in left, replacing the injured Coleman, who is out of the game with a severe muscle bruise. As an outfielder, it was painfully apparent that Cooper was miles and miles out of position. He misjudged three fly balls that a more experienced gardener would have stuck in his pocket.

But the defeat should not be charged up to the Links' substitute left fielder. As a matter of fact, the break came in the fifth after Bert Bugs scored a run for the home gang in the fourth. Bugs was perched on second by virtue of a clean poke and Moore's infield bouncer to McNally. Cooper then clouted to center and Bugs fairly ran his legs off in beating Hock's heave to the plate and scoring his run.

Putting a pitcher on the paths and forcing him to over-exert in getting around the bases generally brings disaster. It usually works that way—it certainly did yesterday, for Bert Bugs didn't have a thing but pertinacity when he essayed to hurl to the Indians in the succeeding round. With five blows, three walks and a sacrifice fly, the savages swarmed in with five runs and the stuff was off right there.

Links Punished Buckshot.

The Links had the satisfaction of pounding Buckshot May off the mound. Buckshot beat the Omaha club a few days ago, so the achievement of the Links really amounted to something. Snake Allen superseded Buckshot, the limber-jointed gent going through to the finish and taking credit for the victory. The Links cuffed Allen for five hits and two runs during the five innings in which he toiled.

Chili McDaniel greeted Allen with a ponderous wallop which cleared the right field pickets, but nobody was on when Chili connected for his circuit trip. Incidentally, it was the fourth successive McDaniel homer in as many ball games at Landis yard.

Third and final fray of the Oklahoma City series is carded for Thursday afternoon, following which the fourth place St. Joseph Saints will be with us during three days at the local orchard. Tuesday's official record:

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

Tri-State Future Gloomy.

OMAHA, Neb., July 16.—The future of the Tri-State baseball league rests on the outcome of a meeting today at Sioux City of Richard Grotte, league president, C. J. Hulac, Norfolk, and Robert Warner, Sioux Falls, with business men of the Iowa City, when the possibility of Sioux City retaining the league berth vacated Monday by George Segrist, manager, is taken up.

Grotte and the other two, who are directors of the loop, announced last night, before leaving here, after a meeting at which the league's future was discussed, that unless the franchise is kept in Sioux City, the league may have to disband without finishing the season.

Aberdeen, S. D., was virtually rejected as a future home for the Sioux City club because of the distance from other league cities, Grotte indicated.

Deserves Its Bad Luck.

No malice is involved when the facts are proclaimed that the Tri-State loop deserves its present misfortunes. The league did not start with clean hands. Reorganized last winter, as successor to the Nebraska State league, its first move was to pull an act of baseball piracy. Owners of the Lincoln State league club, Beltzer brothers and Charles N. Moon, were all square with the league; they had paid all obligations and league dues, and were ready and anxious to transfer their team to Sioux Falls or some other available city, taking membership in the new organization. Without a suggestion of justification or shadow of excuse, the new league declared the Beltzer-Moon franchise and team forfeited, making a present of the Lincoln men's property rights to Sioux Falls. Piracy of that sort deserved punishment in some form or other and it appears that the punishment has come.

Purdy and Walters.

Acquisition by the Links of "Pid Purdy, leading swatsman in the Tri-State loop, hinges on the outcome of the league's efforts to keep the club going in Sioux City. Refusal of Sioux City business interests to co-operate with President Grotte and his associates would break up the circuit and automatically release all players, making them free agents. Purdy is anxious to get back to Lincoln, as a switch would give the Beatrice boy his chance to perform in faster company.

Pitcher Walters of Hastings club, hurling phenom of the Tri-State, the pitcher who beat the Chicago Cubs in a spring game at Los Angeles, also has declared his intention to join the Links in event the Grotte league takes the count.

Verne Comes Home.

Verne Lewellen, former University of Nebraska pitcher, has returned to his Lincoln home from a month's sojourn with the Pittsburgh club of the National league. Verne cultivated an attack of shoulder soreness and was permitted to come home for a rest. He is still under control to the Pirates and may return to Pittsburgh during August. Meantime, he plans to play an occasional ball game in local amateur circles.

Larry Grabs Pitcher File.

Wire news from Los Angeles early this week, in which it was proclaimed that Frank Isbell of the Wichita club had grabbed off Pitcher Mike File, former Los Angeles flinger, evidently was premature and altogether unreliable. It was Larry Arnold, boss of the Links, not Isbell, who hooked File's moniker to a contract. Manager Josh Clarke announced today he had a wire from Arnold in which the Lincoln owner asserted that File would report to the Links Saturday of the present week.

Lincoln Fans Like Chavvy.

Dazzling showing of Lazerri at the hot station in Tuesday's game and the flashy fielding of Chavez at short suggest that Manager Josh has hit on the combination for the far corner of the Lincoln infield. Lazerri, as a matter of course, will make errors at third, but his acquisition has added a lot to the hitting strength of the Links.

As a fielder, Chavez can go the pace with any shortstop of the Western circuit. Inability of Chavez to hit as well as he fields possibly is psychological. It has been dinned into the ears of the Portuguese youngster that he can't hit and he goes to bat lacking confidence. The writer lugs the hunch that Chavvy could hit if he were to get over the erroneous idea that the pitchers have something on him. Chavvy is popular with patrons of the pastime in the camp of the Links. His sincerity and fielding style have made a hit with Lincoln fans.

Champion Jack On Shelf; Won't Fight This Year

CHICAGO, July 16.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion boxer, will do no fighting this year, says Jack Kearns, his manager here arranging for the appearance of the champion in Chicago theatres. Kearns said there was no opponent in view for Dempsey.

Goldstein to Defend Title.

NEW YORK—July 16.—Abe Goldstein, world bantamweight champion, will defend his crown against Charlie Ledoux, veteran French contender, in a fifteen-round bout at the New York velodrome tonight.

Moore Drubs Schlaifer.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Middleweight laurels encircle the brow of Ted Moore of England today as a result of his decisive defeat on points of Morrie Schlaifer of Omaha, in a ten-round-bout last night at Henderson bowl in Brooklyn. Moore outgeneralled his opponent from start to finish.

Colima Outpoints Shade.

LOS ANGELES, July 16.—Bert Colima, Whittier middleweight, won the decision over Dave Shade of San Francisco here last night. George Lavigne of Los Angeles defeated Jimmy Marcus, Oakland welterweight.

The annual city tennis tournament approached the quarter final stage Tuesday afternoon when the corps of racqueteers left in the tourney play struggle in the broiling hot sun in matches completing the second round play.

Three members of the Lincoln city team reached the quarter-finals Tuesday night. This trio is Fred Archard, present city champion; B. E. McProud, former city champion; Joe Stanton, president of the local tennis association.

Others who weathered the second round matches and will play in the third round this afternoon are Sig North, city junior champion; Fred Colby, member of the Nebraska U. tennis team; Don Elliott, present state champion; Marshall Joy, member of the 1923 University of Nebraska team; Charles McCandless, captain of the '24 Wesleyan tennis team; Ralph Weaverling, former city champ; Gregg-McGregg, former Nebraska U. champion; Bob Russell, another former university player; Paul Mahood, who has held number one, ranking several times this season; and Leo Scherer, a comer of the present season.

North In Third Round.

Lincoln juniors continued to show good tournament form Tuesday afternoon. Sig North, present city junior champion, went into the third round by winning from Wally Waite in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0. North has not lost a set in the tournament. He will meet Fred Colby in the third round.

Fred Archard disposed of R. T. Major Tuesday, 6-2, 6-3, and won from Fred Humphrey in the third round Wednesday morning and win straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

B. E. McProud smashed his way to a straight-set victory over Clyde "Lefty" Seymour, member of the city tennis team.

Ben Anderson Shows Class.

Ben Anderson, young ollege View players, gave Bob Russell plenty to keep him busy but lost in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. McCandless won from Campbell Swanson in a three-set affair.

E. E. Clarke forced McBride to go a long three-set match. Clarke, who is a new-comer to Lincoln tennis circles, is plenty handy with the racquet and should be at top form by state tournament time.

Joe Stanton smothered Charles Warren in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. Stanton was playing some of the best tennis he has exhibited this season, allowing his opponent but three points in the first set. Paul Mahood won from Mason Wheeler handily, 6-1, 6-1.

John Ward, University Place junior, battled Ralph Weaverling, 6-8, in the first set but cracked and lost the second set, six-love.

NEW YORK—Epinard, French thoroughbred, spent an hour on the Belmont park track yesterday, slowly working the kinks of travel out of his speedy legs. There was nothing speedy about the workout, the horse being kept under wraps.

Is Green No More

"My experience with your medicine has been wonderful. My stomach and liver trouble of five years standing took a new turn two years ago when I took on an olive green complexion. I spent $1,200 with doctor's and specialists only to prove that I was still as green as ever. A friend advised me to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am green no more. My stomach and liver trouble has all disappeared. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Harley Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO Ill July 16

WHEAT Although rains over part of the [illegible] in Canada led to a weak opening of the wheat market today prices soon [illegible] upturn. The chief reason appeared to be that crop reports from Canada were of a character which indicated widespread [illegible] damage. A leading export [illegible] dispatches from Davidson Sask telling of [illegible] seen thousands of acres of wheat that was scalded like the [illegible] much that was burned almost bare worthless to harvest. Opening prices which ranged from 1¼c decline to [illegible] advance September $1.20¾@1.21¼ and December $1.2[illegible] were followed by [illegible] general sag and then by a jump to about 1½c above yesterday's finish with trading again on a big scale.

Subsequently [illegible] resulted on reports that central and northern Saskatchewan [illegible] per cent [illegible]

September sold at a new top for 1924 [illegible] the season's high price record. The close was buoyant [illegible] to [illegible] net higher September $1.26¼@1.2[illegible] and December $1.29@1.29½.

CORN—Corn and oats rallied with wheat. Besides offerings of nearby deliveries of corn was notably scarce and renewed emphasis was being put on the extreme lateness of the new corn crop despite considerable recent improvement. After opening at [illegible] decline to half cent advance September 1.00@1.01 corn scored decided general gains [illegible] a bushel for July.

[illegible] crop reports from Indiana and Ohio tended to lift values to a material extent. May corn got above 90c the first time [illegible] the [illegible] closed strong at 3¾ to 4½c net advance September $1.04[illegible]

OATS Oats started unchanged to ¼c off September 45[illegible]@45½c dropped still further in some cases and then made a broader advance all around.

PROVISIONS—Provisions influenced by grain and hogs averaged a little higher.

A trough of low pressure extends from Nebraska to Lake Huron resulting in showers in South Dakota Nebraska Kansas Iowa Missouri and Arkansas. It is followed by rising pressure and cooler weather in the northern Rockies. There were also scattered showers in western Canada and in New Mexico. East of the Mississippi river and on the Pacific coast states the weather is generally fair and the temperatures are near normal.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 16.

A bullish demonstration in railroad shares today failed to rally the general stock list, which turned reactionary under heavy selling of the oil shares following ommission of the Sinclair dividend.

Sales approximated 950,000 shares.

Considerable irregularity developed at the opening of today's stock market. Oils continued under pressure in further reflection of the spread of gasoline price cuts, Atlantic Refining dropping 2 points to a new 1924 level.

Reactionary tendencies predominated during the early trading although independent strength was shown by a few rails and public utilities. Additional new 1924 highs were recorded by Omaha, Delaware & Hudson and Illinois Central.

Foreign exchanges opened steady.

Reactionary movements were checked temporarily by a fresh display of strength by the railroad shares. Union Pacific moved up smartly. Just before noon the general list turned heavy again when active selling broke out in the steel group. United States Steel common fell below par for the first time in several days and Bethlehem Steel dropped 1½ points to a new low for the year. Several rails fell a point or so from their early highs. Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Buying of the St. Pauls, shippings, Interborough Rapid Transit and New Haven imparted a steadier tone in the afternoon despite the pronounced weakness of certain stocks.

The closing was irregular.

Heavy liquidation of the oil shares proved too great a strain for the market and many issues sold off snartly in the final hour.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jluy 16.

WHEAT—Although rains over part of the dry district in Canada led to a weak opening of the wheat market today, prices soon made a swift upturn. The chief reason appeared to be that crop reports from Canada were of a character which indicated widespread irreparable damage. A leading export sent dispatches from Davidson, Sask., telling of having seen thousands of acres of wheat that will scarcely make the seed and much that was burned almost bare, worthless to harvest. Opening prices, which ranged from 1⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, September $1.20¾@1.21⅛ and December $1.24@1.24¼, were followed by a moderate general sag and then by a jump to about 1½c above yesterday's finish, with trading again on a big scale.

Subsequently an additional bulge in prices resulted from reports that central and northern Saskatchewan 50 per cent of the crop is beyond decovery by rain. September sold at a net top for 1924. December also broke the season's high price record. The close was buoyant, 3⅝ to 5⅜c net higher, September $1.26⅞@1.27 and December $1.29@1.29¼.

CORN—Corn and oats rallied with wheat. Besides, offerings of nearby deliveries of corn was notably scarce, and renewed emphasis was being put on the extreme lateness of the new corn crop, despite considerable recent improvement. After opening at 1c decline to half cent advance, September 1.00@1.01, corn scored decided general gains, 3c a bushel for July.

Bullish crop reports from Indiana and Ohio tended to lift values to a material extent. May corn got above 90c, the first time on the crop. Corn closed strong at 3⅜ to 4½c net advance, September $1.04⅞ @1.05.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ½c off, September 45¼@45½c, dropped still further in some cases and then made a broader advance all around.

PROVISIONS—Provisions, influenced by grain and hogs, averaged a little higher.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

A trough of low pressure extends from Nebraska to Lake Huron, resulting in showers in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas. It is followed by rising pressure and cooler weather in the northern Rockies. There were also scattered showers in western Canada and in New Mexico. East of the Mississippi river, and in the Pacific coast states the weather is generally fair and the temperatures are near normal.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

The proper development of children born on this date is often retarded by over-fond parents, nurses and guardians, who insist upon clasping them close to themselves. These electro-magnetic conditions are annoying, exciting and very debilitating to the nervous system.

These children are very sympathetic with sorrowing and suffering and will do their utmost to cheer people, but they are inclined to dwell upon the abnormal aspect of these conditions, and to grow very nervous when describing them.

Cancer, the sign of the Crab, governs this date and the evening planet is the Moon. The birthstone is a black onyx and the astral colors are green and russet brown.

Mechanical work leads the columns of The Star Want Ads this week, and anything in this line of work will be wise to watch closely the opportunities offered them through The Star Want Ads.

Duncan Hale's Interference.

BY VIOLET DARE.

Goeffrey's political activities took up much of his time; a city election in which he was much interested was impending, and his own candidacy for governor of the state was becoming an assured thing He threw himself into his work the next few days with renewed zest and Suzanne rejoiced, knowing that it was because of her decision to believe blindly in him and ask him no more questions about his relations with Linda Vale

Her curiosity was a sharp as ever; she could not govern that Mrs Vale gave no sign of being disturbed; evidently after the party at the club she had slipped back again into her old manner; she telephoned Suzanne several times to give her messages from Geoffrey, and Suzanne took them quite as if she enjoyed having her husband's suggestions and remarks relayed to her by another woman It was a bitter struggle but she conquered.

She went into Geoffrey's office late one afternoon, when they were to have tea with some old friends of his who were stopping over in the city for a few hours on their way to their country home. Geoff was busy, and she waited for him in the small outer office of his suite. There Mrs Vale found her.

"Oh, I'm so glad to have a chat with you," she exclaimed, seating herself on the small divan beside Suzanne "I have your checks here, for your own allowance and the house—I don't suppose you need so much for the house now, since you're living at a hotel"

"Oh yes, I need quite as much," replied Suzanne brightly, tucking the slips of paper into her gold mesh bag. "You see, Dick has two nurses even though he's nearly well, and then too, Lolita is there"

"The dear child!" sighed Linda Vale, her handkerchief to her eyes Suzanne smiled It seemed odd that Mrs Vale should suddenly be so fond of the daughter she had left to shift for herself until she made a good marriage. "It's dreadful to have one's only daughter marry, and so young I do hope Dick will be good to her."

"Oh, Dick's sure to be," Suzanne retorted, trying not to emphasize the first word. "Thank you so much for having these checks ready promptly, Mrs. Vale."

"I try always to be prompt," replied Mrs. Vale, quite as if it had not been her habit to delay them. "And I do want to speak to you about one other thing, Suzanne; you're young and inexperienced, and don't know so very much about your husband's affairs, of course, so you'll forgive me for being frank with you. Don't you think you're rather extravagant? Just now, when Geoff is preparing for this big campaign, you ought to be careful."

Suzanne's anger flamed up, hard as she tried to control it

"Really, Mrs Vale, until Geoff himself suggests that I change my mode of living, I see no reason for your interference," she exclaimed, rising

"You've got to listen to me, now."

"Oh, my dear, you're so impetuous, so quick to take offense," sighed Mrs Vale, lifting her eyes to Geoffrey, who had come into the room by the door behind Suzanne. "I'm sure that I meant my advice only for your husband's good."

She left the room hastily, turning, Suzanne faced her husband

"Geoff dear, did you hear what that woman said?" she exclaimed. "If you want me to be economical, won't you tell me so, instead of leaving me to find it out from her?"

"Good heavens, who wants you to practice economy?" he demanded, as he kissed her. "I don't. Has Linda been making you miserable?"

"Trying to," she answered cheerfully. "Oh Geoffrey—" she paused, but he knew what she meant to say, and abruptly suggested that they go into his private office If only he could explain to her'

That evening at a dance at the Merrimans' Duncan Hale spoke to her about Suzanne husband's secretary.

"I've been thinking about you, all the time I've been quarantined in your house," he announced. "And now that I'm out—oh yes, I left this afternoon; got special permission from the authorities—I've got to tell you what I think."

"I don't want to hear it," she answered sharply "Geoff and I are getting along beautifully, if other people would just let us alone."

"But Suzanne, you're so foolish," he exclaimed. "If I could tell you the things I know you'd sing a different tune You've got to listen to me now. Don't run away," as she turned from him.

"I don't want to know anything but what my husband chooses to tell me," she insisted

"And if he never chooses to tell you anything?"

"That won't make any difference Geoff knows what he's doing."

"All right—go on, and let him and Linda Vale make a perfect fool of you," he exclaimed angrily "You know that I love you, that's why I'm trying to make you see this situation as it really is He and she—"

"I won't listen!" cried Suzanne, snatching her hand from his restraining grasp and running into the ballroom

Fiancee Shoots A Polish Writer At His Request

PARIS, July 16.—Slowly dying from an incurable malady, Jan Zoznowski, well known Polish writer, repeatedly begged friends and attendants at the sanitorium at Villejuif to put an end to his sufferings.

Today his fiancee, Mlle. Stanislawa Unicuska, visited him and was so overcome at the sight of his agony she could not resist his pitiable pleadings. She shot him in the head and he is not expected to recover.

Following the shooting, Mlle. Unicuska callapsed and officers sent to arrest her left her in the care of a sanitorium.

Recommend Another Spraying For Late Varieties of Apple

Fall and winter varieties of apples are subject to the injury of the second brood of codling moth worms late in July or early in August and it is therefore advisable to spray the trees again during the last ten days of July, says a bulletin issued by the state agricultural college here.

In occasional years it is possible to omit this spray and still get a high percentage of apples that are fit to eat in the dark," the bulletin says. "Those who tried this system the last two years were sorely disappoined at picking time It is better to be on the safe side this year," the bulletin states.

The agricultural college advises that the material to use is lead arsenate at the rate of one and one-fourth pounds to 50 gallons of water In addition it is well to add a gallon of lime sulphur solution—to three pounds of dry lime sulplus This material costs a bit more but the agricultural college says it serves to check late outbreaks of scab and sooty blotch on the fruit.

Secret of Happiness

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness—the middle aged woman to the uncomfortable conditions caused by this critical age. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to a normal healthy condition is Lydia E. For sports they combine the maximum of ground-grip, of comfort, lightness and long wear.

For general vacation use—and especially for the every day summer wear of boys and girls—they are the most economical footwear you can buy.

Keds are a complete line of canvas rubber-soled shoes, varying in price according to grade, size and style, from $1.25 to $4.50. But every pair of Keds is built to give longer wear and better service.

It is important to remember that all canvas rubber-soled shoes are not Keds. Keds are made only by the United States Rubber Company. And every shoe has the name Keds on it.

The cars were furnished by business men of the city. The visitors inspected the new state capital, drove through the main residential section, visited the country club and Antelope park and the agricultural and city campuses of the state university, and saw the newer school buildings.

The proposed amendments to the constitution were presented to the delegates at the Tuesday session and arrangements made for formal presentation before the convention for adoption or rejection at the meeting Wednesday and Thursday. The committee retired to their rooms on adjournment Tuesday and got their reports in shape for presentation.

Tell Farmers How To Pedigree Chicks

The growing interest in the breeding of poultry for egg production and standard qualities has brought many inquiries for a simple, accurate and inexpensive pedigree system, so the University of Nebraska agricultural college here has issued a circular on "How To Pedigree Chicks." This gives information on marking hens and eggs, trapnests and records.

The college reports wide interest in Nebraska in the federal department of agriculture bulletin entitled "Better Sires—Better Stock." The campaign centering around this slogan, up to March 31, had witnessed the increase of participants to nearly one-half million, the college officials said. Animals owned by the participants is bred to purebred sires so that better strains of livestock may be produced.

Fiancee Shoots A Polish Writer At His Request

PARIS, July 16.—Slowly dying from an incurable malady, Jan Zoznowski, well known Polish writer, repeatedly begged friends and attendants at the sanitorium at Villejuif to put an end to his sufferings.

Today his fiancee, Mlle. Stanislawa Unicuska, visited him and was so overcome at the sight of his agony she could not resist his pitiable pleadings. She shot him in the head and he is not expected to recover.

Following the shooting, Mlle. Unicuska callapsed and officers sent to arrest her left her in the care of a sanitorium.

Recommend Another Spraying For Late Varieties of Apple

Fall and winter varieties of apples are subject to the injury of the second brood of codling moth worms late in July or early in August and it is therefore advisable to spray the trees again during the last ten days of July, says a bulletin issued by the state agricultural college here.

In occasional years it is possible to omit this spray and still get a high percentage of apples that are "fit to eat in the dark," the bulletin says. "Those who tried this system the last two years were sorely disappoined at picking time. It is better to be on the safe side this year," the bulletin states.

The agricultural college advises that the material to use is lead arsenate at the rate of one and one-fourth pounds to 50 gallons of water. In addition it is well to add a gallon of lime sulphur solution—to three pounds of dry lime sulplus. This material costs a bit more but the agricultural college says it serves to check late outbreaks of scab and sooty blotch on the fruit.

Secret of Happiness

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness—the middle aged woman to the uncomfortable conditions caused by this critical age. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to a normal healthy condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for fifty years has been restoring sick and ailing women to health and happiness.—Advertisement.

Look for the name Keds right here

whenever you buy canvas rubber-soled shoes

IF you want the longest-wearing quality your money can buy—if you want the leading sports and athletic shoes made today—it will pay you to look for the name Keds.

More Keds are worn today than any other brand of canvas rubber-soled shoes.

Keds are made with an unusually tough, long-wearing rubber, grown on our own plantations in Sumatra. Their canvas uppers are specially selected for strength and ability to stand the hardest use.

For sports they combine the maximum of ground-grip, of comfort, lightness and long wear.

For general vacation use—and especially for the every day summer wear of boys and girls—they are the most economical footwear you can buy.

Keds are a complete line of canvas rubber-soled shoes, varying in price according to grade, size and style, from $1.25 to $4.50. But every pair of Keds is built to give longer wear and better service.

It is important to remember that all canvas rubber-soled shoes are not Keds. Keds are made only by the United States Rubber Company. And every shoe has the name Keds on it.

If you want Keds quality—it will pay you to look for the name.
